County executive plan faces committee delay

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff
The Wayne County Board of Commissioners' General

Government Committee has postponed for one week a decision on whether to place the issue of electing a county chief executive on the August primary ballot. Although the county appears ready for an elected executive, few people in power favor electing one under present Michigan law. In a hearing before the committee, spokespersons for power groups from throughout the county voiced approval for electing a chief executive to improve county government, but each cited problems with a recently passed state law which would allow the people to vote on the plan in August.

MANY TERMED the law, written by Sen. Carl D. Pursell (R-14th District), as "vague and poorly written."

Tom Turner, president of the Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO said: "The conflicts of infringement on duties of elected county officials under the present law can be settled only through time consuming and expensive litigation, if the plan is adopted as is."

"While we agree with the general intent of the act, we disagree in many particulars, and these disagreements are so fundamental that we undoubtedly would be opposed to passage of the referendum."

Turner's statement followed United Auto Workers Union Region I-E Director, Bard Young, who opposed the bill.

BOTH CLAIM to represent hundreds of thousands of union members who would oppose the proposal.

Young suggested that the commissioners consider asking whether the voters want an elected executive on the August ballot and hold election of the executive on the November ballot to "give all parties time for further study and to seek amendatory legislation to clear up some very bad language" in Pursell's bill.

The unions were joined by the Detroit Council for Political Education, a spokesman for Mayor Coleman A. Young of Detroit, elected county officials, including the auditor, sheriff and drain commissioner and Commissioner Paul Silver (D-14th District), in urging a change in the present legislation before approving the county executive plan.

"It's a question of accountability," said Silver, former director of the UAW. "There already is no accountability to the commissioners for many county departments and functions, including the road commission."

"ARE WE GOING to create another $30,000 to $35,000 job which will have no value?"

"I believe we should sit down and draw up a proposal which says 'this is the way we think the county should be' and let the voters say yes or no to it, rather than offering them a vaguely written law which may just create another high priced job."

But there were some who supported the plan as it was proposed and who urged approval of it in the August election.

Katherine Cushman, president of the League of Women Voters of Dearborn and Dearborn Heights said: "Wayne County desperately needs an executive branch. It is like a city without a mayor or a state without a governor."

"THERE IS NO perfect piece of legislation. It's always easier to pick holes in what there is rather than go with what can be adopted."

Board Chairman Robert FitzPatrick and Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-19th District) also urged adoption of the plan.

"I believe this option should be offered the voters of our county," FitzPatrick said. "Our federal constitution and our state constitution mandate that at these levels of government there shall be executive, legislative and judicial branches."

"COUNTY GOVERNMENT, however, has never been granted this method of effective management."

"In urban counties, the struggle for power by the officials became so intense that these officials failed to comprehend the potential value of county government. There has been no available adequate method of utilizing the total community power of the counties."

Mrs. Dumas said: "One need only to examine a chart of Wayne County government to comprehend the almost impossible tasks facing the board of commissioners in attempting to both legislate and administer government under the present system."

Spring is here

"Spring fever" is displayed in many ways. For children it's fun on swings or playing ball and for adults it's cleaning to make property and the city more beautiful. Enjoying the spring break from school were Joyce Hornyak, 10, and Judy Lewis, 11, who had fun on a swing. And a different kind of "fun" was experienced by Barbara Black of 30205 Smith Rd., Romulus. She had the "fun" of raking her front yard with the intention of making it tidy and the city more beautiful. In her "spring cleaning" she also was able to enjoy the warm rays of the sun during last week's warm spell. — Roman photos.

second graders said they enjoyed the time off of work, but were eager to get back to their studies. — Photo by Romulus Roman Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Millage sought

Swimming pool plan to be on June ballot

By KAY DeBORD
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus Community School District residents will have a chance to decide if they are willing to pay the price for a swimming pool, estimated to cost 1.3 million.

The Romulus Board of Education Monday night decided to place the pool question on the June election ballot.

If approved by the voters, 3 1/4 mills would be assessed against all property in the school district for a two-year period to pay for constructing, furnishing and equipping the pool addition to Romulus Senior High School.

PROPERTY with an assessed valuation of $10,000 would be taxed an additional $33 annually for the two years, a school district official said. The board also considered including improvement of the tennis courts at the school in the same proposition, but held back because estimates on the work were not available.

The board made the decision to ask for the millage rather than a bond issue because it felt it could save district residents money that would be paid out in interest, the official said.

The board's action followed public requests which included a petition drive.

IN OTHER action Monday, the board agreed to the request of a parent group (the Eager Beavers) asking for bus transportation to the summer day camp program for the handicapped and retarded children in Romulus.

The board agreed that the group would have the use of a bus (if gasoline is available) three days a week for transportation to the Huron Metro Park. Mrs. Geneva Clark of Family and Neighborhood Services requested the use of the bus.

Also approved was the request of representatives of the Romulus Athletic Association for use of Tobine Field for baseball games and the high school field for weekend Little League football games in the fall.

The board also delayed action on a request by the Romulus Community Relations Commission to change the name of the proposed North Junior High School to the Lorena G. Burton School.

MRS. BURTON, a long-time resident of Romulus, was well-known as an educator in the community and was in charge of the federal and state programs in the school district at the time of her death earlier this year.

Sticking by policy, the board of education said that it would create dissension in the community if the school-naming was changed.

The commission said Mrs. Burton was an outstanding candidate for the honor and that the board would be justified in making the policy change.

Fires 'strike' Romulus; It's work of vandals

A rash of fires has struck Romulus' urban renewal area and a fire department official believes the fires were the work of "young vandals."

Bruce Hamel, the assistant fire chief, said the Romulus Fire Department has fought four major fires during the past two weeks and several small blazes last weekend in abandoned houses.

"The houses are torn apart beyond repair, with the wiring, copper and plumbing removed," Hamel said. "Apparently vandals, interested in the excitement, set them afire to watch them burn."

Hamel said the four fires during the past two weeks are "all total losses" but added "there wasn't much there to begin with."

"The houses are junk because of prior vandalism," he added. "But when they're torched they are a danger to people living in other exposed homes in the area because of flying sparks."

Hamel said the fire department and members of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol are watching the area to help thwart vandals.

He added that residents living near vacant homes can help stop the fires and protect their own property by calling the police when they spot vandals.

Former deputy treasurer criticizes reason for firing

The former deputy treasurer in Romulus has charged that she was fired because she didn't work on the election campaign for Romulus Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz.

Lewkowicz said the charge was "absurd."

Marie Wood, who held the deputy treasurer's position for 3 1/2 years, said the treasurer told her she was fired "because I had not been doing my job and because I spent too much time on personal business."

But she added that she thinks she was fired because she didn't work on Lewkowicz' campaign.

"He didn't say anything about either of those things (not doing the job and the personal business) since he took office in November," she said.

Lewkowicz refused to comment, only saying: "I don't think it's proper to discuss the reason for her firing."

He added that he had been interviewing applicants for the deputy treasurer's job for two weeks since Mrs. Wood was fired.

As deputy treasurer, Mrs. Wood assisted Lewkowicz. The job includes handling deposits and other office duties.

Bonus for veterans

House approves Vietnam bill

A $204,000,000 Vietnam veteran bonus plan was reported out of committee for approval by the Michigan Legislature. The proposal, which is expected to pass, would provide benefits of $600 to a combat veteran and $450 for others and would be placed on the November 5 ballot for final approval by the voters. "This time we're talking about a strictly cash bonus and nothing else," said State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus), chairman of the House Military and Veterans' Affairs Committee.

Under the present House substitute, an estimated 139,000 ex-servicemen and men still in uniform would qualify for the maximum $600 cash payment, along with the widows, children or parents of 2,600 deceased veterans.

The top award would go to combat veterans, those who served in Vietnam as evidenced by receipt of either the Vietnam Service Medal or the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal.

Eligibility would extend to veterans in uniform between Jan. 1, 1961 and Aug. 31, 1973, provided they received honorable general, but not less than honorable, discharges.

In addition, an applicant would have to have resided in Michigan six months before entering the service and have completed 190 days of active duty.

An estimated 313,300 ex-servicemen in the Non-combat category could qualify for monthly $15 service grants for a maximum of $450.

For elected officials

Panel eyes ethics code

A proposed code of ethics, governing all elected and appointed county officials, is before a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The code was submitted to the General Government Committee by a three-member subcommittee which has been studying the matter since August.

If approved by the full board, it would establish a five-member ethics commission to investigate alleged violations and to report findings of guilt to the board of commissioners.

COMMISSION MEMBERS would be appointed by the board chairman.

Violations would subject elected officials to public censure by a two-thirds vote of the 27-member county board. Appointed officials would be subject to removal by a majority vote of the board and makes decisions.

would be required to file a full disclosure of their sources of income for the last year at the time of appointment.

The code would cover three areas of conflicts of interest: —unauthorized divulgence of information for personal gain or for the gain of others;

—ARRANGEMENTS FOR personal benefit based upon official position or authority or upon confidential information gained by reason of such position of authority; and —solicitation or acceptance of gifts, favors or other profit arrangements under any circumstances which tend or have the appearance of influencing the manner in which an official performs his work

According to Wayne County Commissioner Brian Arrowsmith (D-Van Buren), chairman of the subcommittee, the board is "blazing a new trail" with the code.

"Our study found that Montgomery County, Md., is the only individual county with a code of ethics, although Iowa has adopted a code that applies to all its counties," he said.

A CODE OF ethics was proposed last year by Commissioners Samuel A. Turner (D-Detroit), now chairman of the General Government Committee, and John C. Hertel (D-Harper Woods), since elected to the State Senate.

Arrowsmith said, "We made the code as tough as we legally could. I don't think any elected official would want to risk public censure and disclosure of the reasons for it."

Checkup, tests to be available at Healthorama

The Huron Township Health Committee will sponsor a "Healthorama" on May 1 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 19109 Craig St., New Boston.

The participating agencies in the "Healthorama," that will be held from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., are the Michigan Cancer Foundation, the Wayne County Society for the Blind, Michigan Heart Association, Michigan Kidney Foundation and the Michigan Hearing Foundation.

Various free tests, including pap, will be offered, under the supervision of 14 nurses and physicians. Last year approximately 600 township residents attended the "Healthorama."

Inoculations against rubella and measles and oral polio vaccine also will be offered during the program.

A blood donation drive the American Red Cross will be part of the activities. Donors already include Huron Township Supervisor George Moors and several post office employees.

Persons who attend and participate in this year's "Healthorama" are asked to bring the name and addresses of their physicians so that reports of the tests administered can be sent to them.

The committee is asking for a donation of 50 cents to be used to finance two nursing scholarships.

Hearing reviews panel's formation

The formation of a concerned citizens' committee in Belleville will be among the subjects discussed at a public meeting to be held at 8 p.m. April 30 in the multi-purpose room of the Edgemont Elementary School, 125 Edgemont St., Belleville.

Other items to be discussed include the city's street paving and storm drain improvement program.

scheduled to be resumed in May, as it involves unpaved streets in the Edgemont school area.

Work on the street paving and drain improvement project was halted during winter.

The meeting is open to all Belleville citizens interested in the future growth and development of the Belleville community.

Work on engineering for paving underway

Engineering work is underway on Romulus' $2 million road paving program. According to the city's economic developer and planner, John Chihan, the firm of Morris Levine and Associates has set a tentative June 1 deadline for finishing engineering and the city has set a tentative July 1 deadline for letting bids on the project.

"The scope of the program depends on how much the city can bond for," Chihan said. "The city will be getting last quarter reimbursements for gas and weight tax funds from the state by the second week in May, and from that, we'll be able to bond for the improvement."

"If THE CITY gets enough funds, it intends to pave 21 miles, but the city has no way of knowing whether it can pave until it receives the quarterly report in May." Chihan added that the city intends to bond for $1.5 million of the $2 million project, with the remaining funds coming from the city's general fund. "As it stands now, the city plans to spend $1 million from the major road fund and $500,000 from the local road fund for paving, with the city matching dollar for dollar local road funds with city general funds, as required by law," Chihan said.

Top priority roads for paving will be the major ones, according to Chihan.

The city is allowed to classify some dirt roads as 'major' roads by the state," he said. "But it cannot receive state reimbursement for them until they are paved."

"SO IT IS critical the city gets to these as soon as possible."

"But the city is bound to do many of the local roads, since it uses local road funds for paving."

Cities receive funds from the state for gas and weight taxes collected throughout the state based on a formula considering population and mileage for local and major roads.

Funds returned to the city are more on a per mile basis for major roads than they are for local roads.

THE SECOND week in May also could be a critical week for the city's entire road paving picture, because the scope will be determined from gasoline sales tax returns during the height of the energy crisis.

If the tax collections fell off due to a lack of gasoline, as some city officials fear, the city cannot pave the entire 21 miles of roadway now projected for paving.

That mileage which is lopped off of this year's program will be added to a new program next year, which will have to be completed at inflated costs.

And again, next year's program will be affected by the energy crisis because asphalt is a by-product of petroleum production.

"ASPHALT WILL be in shorter supply next year," Chihan said. "That's why the city is hoping to get as much done this year as it can."

"The city is figuring the cost to be about $100,000 per mile for all paving this year, and it may go up substantially next year if asphalt does what we all think it will."

Chihan said paving is critical for Romulus' economic growth in the future.

"The city is concerned about the services it offers citizens, particularly in the way of good roads," Chihan said. "Good roads breed quality economic development, which itself can finance improved services."

"That's why the city is aiming at the major roads—the mile roads. They're the arteries which not only serve the most people, but also the one's which will breed the most development to improve the tax base."

Township tries to get $500,000 owed Huron

Huron Township is embarking on an all-out effort to obtain nearly $500,000 allegedly owed it by the state and federal governments, which may culminate in lawsuits against both.

The Huron Township Board of Trustees huddled Monday to formulate a plan for getting the money officials claim is owed the township from a sewer interceptor installation project begun in 1968.

The dispute between Huron, the state and the federal governments stems from the project, which originally involved Huron and Sumpter townships, Flat Rock and the Huron-Clinton Metropark Authority, according to Huron Township Supervisor George W. Moore.

THE INTERCEPTORS were to join the four areas on a single sewer line, but Sumpter backed out of the agreement, prompting the federal government, which allegedly promised to supply a grant for the project, to halt construction. Huron was told construction would proceed, if it absorbed Sumpter's share of the cost, Moore said.

Huron Township absorbed the additional costs and now claims the government owes it the extra money.

"This finally has come to the point where I can't wait any longer," Moore said. "We're paying nearly a half million dollars for something we're not even using. About 20 people are on the sewer line, and somebody's going to pay for the aggravation this has cost us."

The township board sent letters to the state, county and federal governments as well as the metropark authority,

District officials plan school improvement

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

It hasn't been a month since Huron School District voters approved a 4.35 mills operating tax hike for the district, and school officials already are listing the improvements and changes they will get to make with the increased funds.

"I'm hoping for a greatly improved program all the way around," said Huron School Supt. Byron K. Antcliff. "We're anticipating across-the-board improvement of programs and services in the district, and one of the first things we will focus on will be improving the Huron Junior High School program."

The junior high has average class sizes of 32, much too big in Antcliff's estimation.

"We want to reduce the sizes along with updating the curriculum," Antcliff said. "The reading services there also could be improved."

He said the chief goal in the elementary schools is to upgrade materials and books. Large class sizes are no problem in the two elementary schools — Riverside and Hannan Road — that average 23 students.

In general, Antcliff feels the millage increase, which paved the way for nearly $1 million in state aid to be directed to Huron in the next three years "will allow us to offer programs and services previously available only to wealthy districts."

"We also can catch up on our maintenance and repairs," he added.

He said the long range goal of the district is to gain North Central Accreditation for Huron Junior High School, then go a step further and seek it for the high school. Huron High currently is accredited only by the University of Michigan.

Treasurer regrets 'loss'

City's auditing firm resigns

The auditing firm which Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar criticized for doing "shoddy work" two months ago, has resigned as the city's consultants.

The firm of Adelson, Weitz, Witus and Co. informed the city treasurer, John B. Lewkowicz, it had to resign "with regrets" because of its increasing workload.

"I've been reviewing its work and would say it did a good job on the work it hired to do," Lewkowicz said.

The firm was hired by Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt last November.

Troutt said he hired the firm to straighten out problems caused by slow auditing practices by the city's former consultants.

Folmar criticized the firm after it claimed more than 61 items in the city were "missing" during an inventory two months ago. The city clerk "found" four of the items during his own check, along with thousands of dollars worth of "unaccounted for" items that the firm missed during its original inventory.

"The firm did what the city asked it to do," Lewkowicz said. "I don't want to get into the audit thing, but I can say the administration is taking the firm's suggestion and are establishing a 'perpetual inventory' of all items owned by the city."

NOW THE CITY has its third firm in less than a year. It is the Doyle, Litt and Co.

According to Lewkowicz the new firm has been auditors for Huron Township for the past 20 years, and boasts more than 30 years in the city auditing field. "I'm confident they can handle the job, but I'm sorry to see the old firm go," Lewkowicz said.

Dems could get credit...if it happens

If Richard Nixon is impeached this year, at least some of the responsibility will rest with the Michigan Democratic Party.

In the space of two months Democrats have won special elections in two traditionally Republican Districts and sent shock waves resounding through Washington.

The GOP have lost four of five special elections in strong Republican districts this year and each one has struck fear into the hearts of GOP candidates. But the two in Michigan were the most striking because the first involved the district represented by Vice President Gerald Ford and the second involved President Nixon himself.

NEITHER ELECTION, of course, has any bearing on the guilt or innocence of President Nixon to charges leveled against him. But they do measure the political situation, a consideration which weighs heavily on the mind of a Congressman planning to run for another term this fall.

The first election in February was a real shocker to nearly everyone as Democrat Richard VanderVeen picked off the seat which Ford had held for 25 years. VanderVeen had campaigned on one issue - Watergate - and after the election GOP State Chairman William McLaughlin said bluntly "Watergate killed us."

'It's easy to blame the President, but I think that's an over-simplification.'

The second one held no surprises. It was the most well covered special election in years, possibly ever, as more than 500 news reporters went to the district at one point or another. Both parties moved in troops and spent money at the level normally saved for presidential elections. When it was over each had spent more than $100,000.

IT WAS THE LAST of five special elections held in a district which seemed perhaps the best cross section of the country of the five with both urban, suburban and rural constituencies. When President Nixon came to campaign at the invitation of Republican candidate James Sparling it heightened the drama even further.

And when it was over Democrat J. Robert Traxler, who had campaigned against the President rather than against Sparling, had won. The President had gambled and lost.

Sparling astounded nearly everyone when he invited Nixon, but at the time it seemed like a good idea to him and his strategists. The polls showed him trailing Traxler and Watergate an important issue and he felt the best thing to do was meet the situation head on.

NIXON ASTOUNDED nearly everyone when he accepted the visit. But by that time Sparling appeared to be having second doubts. He had invited the President to come, not to campaign for him but to come out of isolation and meet with the people, he said. It wasn't going to be a campaign appearance.

But this time, Sparling had been making inroads against Traxler, using Traxler's spotty voting record in the Legislature to good advantage. But the President's visit put all other issues in the spotlight. And after spending five hours riding around the district with the President it was hard for Sparling to maintain the President hadn't been campaigning for him.

Republican strategists say the feel the President's visit may have helped by shoring up support in the Michigan Thumb area the President motorcaded through. Their last poll there in March showed Sparling was still two percentage points behind Traxler in what normally is three-to-one GOP country and Sparling took about 60 per cent of the vote in the three counties they toured.

BUT IN EACH OF the seven counties, Traxler trimmed about 12 per cent off what Republican James Harvey had garnered in 1972 and added it to his own total, coming through with a 59,918 to 56,898 win.

Traxler was quick to credit the President for his win and Republican Gov. William G. Milliken said "It appears some Democrats are riding the President's coattails to Washington."

But McLaughlin, who was quick to pin the blame on Watergate after the Grand Rapids election and who was supported by later polls in the district, says he isn't so sure what caused this defeat.

IT'S EASY TO BLAME the President," he said, "but I think that's an over-simplification."

The President's visit, however, insured at least some of the blame for the loss will be assigned to him. And Republican Congressmen who fear that his staying in office may bring them down in the fall had those fears heightened by the 8th district results, a fact which won't help the President a bit in his fight against impeachment.

As we see it

Let's throw the book at the 'litterbugs'

The new state law raising the maximum fine for littering from $100 to $400 went into effect March 29...and we urge its rigid enforcement here in Western Wayne County.

Last year Michigan state troopers made 376 arrests for littering, resulting in 236 convictions. Local lawmen also made many arrests, but the total is small in comparison to the millions of unreported acts of littering.

Whether the increased penalty will stem the littering of our state's highways remains to be seen. If the new penalty is to succeed, it must be enforced.

How many times have you spotted the car ahead of you tossing litter out the window. How many times have you spotted someone emptying their ash trays onto parking lots at Westland Center and Metro Place Mall in Wayne. How many times have you spotted litterbugs dumping their refuse along roadways in Romulus and into Belleville Lake.

Several of our area communities have been promoting spring clean-up campaigns. In Romulus, Mayor Terry Troutt says violators of the city's litter ordinances will be fined, and he adds: "No favors for anyone..."

Street cleaning personnel in Garden City do more than their share to retain a clean look at Ford and Middlebelt — the city's main intersection. But litterbug motorists and pedestrians come along and scatter litter.

While we single out the adult community for its littering role, our young people could also help improve the situation. Just drive by some of our public schools and you'll find ice cream and candy bar wrappers scattered about.

Enforcement of city and state litter codes will deter the litterbugs who dirty the local and state landscape...and its lakes and rivers.

"Was that a step I heard?"

Teachers question value of assessment tests

Claim scores do not represent child's ability

By WES THORP
Lansing Bureau

Michigan teachers have leveled their heavy academic artillery at state efforts to find the reasons for the success and failures of public education.

The 80,000 member Michigan Education Association (MEA) is trying to explode the notion that teachers are to blame when a child does not learn as much as expected.

THE FIRST ROUND has been fired, with the MEA, the state's largest teacher union, using a study of Michigan's educational accountability system as ammunition.

Three educational specialists were paid $20,000 by the MEA and its parent, the National Education Association (NEA), to dissect the state's system for evaluating public schools.

And what the three experts came up with praises the state Department of Education for its efforts, but castigates it for the results of those efforts.

SPECIFICALLY, the three educators, two from out-of-state and one from Western Michigan University, set their sights on Michigan's six step accountability system.

The system starts with what are supposed to be the goals to be obtained by the state's public schools, then translates these into objectives or certain things which a child ought to know in various stages in his development and then provides for annual assessment tests to see if these objectives were attained.

The MEA sponsored experts prefaced their reaction to this system by saying:

"We believe gentleness in criticism is not a kindness."

THE MAIN OBJECT of the experts' criticism was the controversial state assessment tests which are administered each year to all fourth and seventh graders.

Many of the factors which influence learning are not controlled by teachers...

It's supposed to be an annual checkup of a child's educational progress.

That looks nice on paper, according to one of panel members, Dr. Ernest House of the University of Illinois. But, he said, "tests are not a good measure of what's taught in school."

First, the MEA's educational experts found fault with what the state was supposed to be testing for, the minimal objectives which the state feels that a student ought to have reached.

"Only a relatively few persons have been involved in developing and choosing the objectives," the MEA study said. "It is certain that a consensus among Michigan educators has not been reached concerning minimal performance objectives; and it is doubtful that such a consensus could be achieved."

THE USE OF A rigid set of learning objectives by the state as a pattern of what every child should know is too narrow, the report states.

"To utilize these skill areas as the singular criterion of scholastic progress, through the use of narrowly structured objectives is grossly unfair to the child and similarly so to the teacher of the child," the report continues.

And to evaluate teachers on the basis of the test results is, according to the report, "possibly one of the most unfortunate potentialities of the Michigan Assessment Program."

THE REPORT continues: "Many of the factors which influence learning are not controlled by teachers. This is particularly true for such factors as the background experiences of the student, his emotional and physical readiness for school, the cognitive and affective skills which he brings from his particular family milieu; and numerous other personal and school-related factors."

V.P. Ford fears one party control

By TOM OCHILTREE
Washington Bureau Chief

Democratic candidate J. Robert (Bingo Bob) Traxler's victory in Michigan's special congressional election revealed a steep erosion in Republican strength of great concern to the party's national leadership.

That was the result, plain for the whole nation to see, of last Tuesday's election in the normally Republican rock solid eighth district, as near to typical middle America as any one area can be.

Leading Republicans were not in agreement, however, on what caused the defeat of James M. Sparling, Jr. Were the residents of Bay City-Saginaw and Michigan's rural "thumb" disgusted by the White House's involvement in Watergate or alarmed by rising unemployment and unchecked inflation?

THE QUESTION was far from academic. If Watergate was the prime cause of what happened in the eighth district the Republicans can expect one bruising defeat after another so long as President Nixon remains in the White House, analysts of both the Democratic and Republican parties agreed.

The picture would be less disheartening for the President if economic issues could be shown to be the determining ones. Republican hopes at the general election in November would brighten if the President before then somehow could stabilize prices and reduce unemployment - two goals extremely difficult to reach in tandem.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford warned that decay in Republican strength must be checked before autumn or congress would become so Democratic that no effective opposition would exist.

"ONE PARTY CONTROL is not good for America," Ford said. "And the trend in congressional elections now is for the Democrats to end up with an overwhelming majority in the House. This will mean a legislative dictatorship."

The implication is obvious. A heavily democratic congress and a politically crippled president would give this country two years of partisan clashes and the lamest of lame duck governments.

Privately, Republican leaders in the wake of the eighth district results, are thinking harder than ever of one option available to their party - persuading Nixon to resign so he can be succeeded by Ford with enough time left so Ford can revive the party.

FORD HIMSELF has done nothing to encourage such a development, although his recent speeches have shown his dislike of the "arrogant, elite guard of political adolescents" who once stood close to the president and saddled the GOP with the Watergate scandal in the first place.

Ford did not believe the eighth district results would have a bearing on how congress treats Nixon so far as impeachment proceedings are concerned.

It is widely believed in Washington that the House Judiciary Committee will vote out a resolution of impeachment (similar to a grand jury indictment), and that the resolution will be adopted by a majority of the full house.

However, the senate - which will try the case - is not expected to muster the required two-thirds vote to convict the president.

Praises Solzhenitsyn

To the Editor: Solzhenitsyn, Nobel Prize winner and courageous writer in Russia has denounced Stalin and Lenin. He recently was forcibly arrested, imprisoned, and then deported. He exposes Lenin as being the moving force behind the introduction of terror of unthinkables. This has brought down upon Solzhenitsyn's head the fury of the controlled Soviet Press which is fuming and raging against him.

It is well for Americans to heed the words of this brave and brilliant man who had the courage, the strength of spirit and the power of mind to speak the truth and to warn us that appeasement exists in the free world. He said: "The timid civilized world has found nothing with which to oppose the onslaught of a sudden revival of bare faced barbarity other than concessions and smiles." Thus, he warns of the danger of the present detente.

He also describes the United Nations as "...an immoral institution." Solzhenitsyn cautions, "the price of cowardice will only be evil - we shall reap courage and victory only when we dare to make sacrifices."

Solzhenitsyn, who served eight years in a prison camp and three years in exile, is a "Herald of Freedom" for the world! He is trying to tell us, in America, not to trust Soviet promises and to face fearlessly "bare faced barbarity."

The obvious answer to this threat is, of course, a powerful United States military defense.

Tired of paying

To the Editor: Recently, the Belleville Enterprise had a story to the effect that the Huron-Clinton Metro Park Association was going to charge a parking fee of one dollar per car for all cars entering the park.

I think this is the most absurd thing that I have ever heard of. The taxpayers of this county have paid for these parks and the maintenance of them over the years and now they are told that they must pay another "tax" to enjoy them.

Just where does this thing end? I think it is about time the mayors and township supervisors show the taxpayers that they are in the taxpayers corner and put a stop to this taking of every dollar that's possible.

I am especially thinking of the Senior Citizens that have contributed over the years to every cause that comes along. Now, in order to enjoy the parks on a nice summer day, they are asked to pay for the privilege.

Need adoption reform

To the Editor: I agree wholeheartedly with Belleville Mayor Royce Smith on the need for new adoption laws. The fiasco that tore two families apart in the Rhonda Marie Horn case is proof we need practical adoption laws.

The mayor's shock and dismay over the way the court handled the entire case is shared by everyone at our apartment, and I would hope by citizens throughout the state.

Let's hope State Representative Gary Owen's proposed law changes will correct future unjust court edicts. A child should not be played about by the courts. Life is too precious.

Has news for GOP

To the Editor: Writer Don Hoenshell says Gov. William Milliken should have been a doctor, because of the governor's so-called tact at upsetting the Democrats.

I have news for Mr. Hoenshell and the Republicans. Sander Levin will win the governor's election because the people are getting fed-up.

Everytime the Republicans lose an election they blame Nixon and Watergate. Sounds like the boy who cried wolf one time too often.

Automakers offer 'extras' for saving gasoline

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Enterprise-Roman
Auto Writer

Automotive news roundup

Free booklet

Chrysler is offering a free booklet through all Dodge dealerships on how to improve gasoline mileage.

The booklet gives a little public relations boost to Dodge vehicles by informing the readers that "Dodge always has given offered economical vehicles...and will continue to do so," according to Dodge General Sales Manager Richard D. McLaughlin. It will offer tips on how to get better mileage out of Dodge products, he added.

It stresses low maintenance components such as electronic ignition and radial ply tires and advises the purchaser to get the engine size which best suits his needs to improve mileage.

Good news

The auto industry received some "good" news last week from first quarter returns on truck production.

First quarter 1974 truck production, which accounts for 20 to 25 per cent of the industry's output, was down only 10 per cent from last year's record production, while auto production was down 34 per cent from the first quarter of 1973.

Although such a decline in a normal year would cause concern for auto executives, the "small" decline in 1974 may show a "firming up of the market place" in their eyes.

Ford's bill

Congress William D. Ford (D-15th District) has proposed a bill which would set limits on the number of cars a foreign automaker can import, if that automaker's country restricts its citizens' right to purchase American-made cars.

"Any country exporting autos to the United States, that imposes excessive or arbitrary economic barriers, would be required to restrict their car imports to the average level of the 1971-73 period until and unless they lowered those barriers to match American export standards," Ford said.

Ford, no relation to the automobile Ford family, said he proposed the bill because "mounting unemployment in the automotive industry has made it imperative that these discriminatory practices be eliminated."

"These unequal tariffs increase the average cost of an American compact car by $220," Ford said. "Many countries further restrict fair competition by including freight and insurance costs in calculating the cost base, while the United States taxes only the basic vehicle."

Auto production

Auto production was off 38 per cent from 1973, with production during the week ending April 13 reaching 133,882 this year, compared to 215,646 during the same week last year.

Production was off seven per cent compared to the previous week, with production of 144,856 during the week ending April 6 — down 10,974 units from the week ending April 13.

Production this year to date also is off of last year's record pace.

Production to date is 2,066,071, compared to production of 3,136,311 during the same period in 1973.

Chrysler Corp. is the only major automaker that did not see its production decline during the week ending April 13, when compared to the week ending April 6.

Production during the week ending April 13 was 24,650 compared to 22,190 during the previous week.

However, production during the same week in 1973 was 33,790.

All other automakers showed declines in production both from the same week last year and from the previous week this year during the week ending April 13.

'In the black'

Despite slumping sales, Chrysler President John J. Ricardo announced last week that the corporation still finished "in the black" when earnings are released for the first quarter of this year.

However, the corporation president also informed his stockholders there will be "substantial" price increases in Chrysler's 1975 model cars to offset rising costs in materials and labor.

Election eyed

General Motors Corp. began mailing proxy statements to the company's 1,310,000 stockholders last week for the election of 22 directors and five proposals.

Ballots will be counted at the corporation's annual meeting scheduled for 1 p.m. May 24 at Detroit's Cobo Hall. Four of the present directors will not face re-election and two of the nominees on the ballots have never served as directors of the corporation.

The chamber is spearheading a "Fly the American Flag" campaign in the Belleville-Van Buren Township area. American flag kits contain a flag and staff, and are available at the chamber office for $3.95. More than 35 flag kits have been sold. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

The Elks group selects students from the various high schools to receive financial assistance for a higher education through the contest.

Winner of the local competition will be given a cash award with the second place finisher receiving a honor award.

Students, participating in the contest to be held at 4 p.m. May 5 at Robichaud High School, will be judged on performance during a 10-minute presentation.

The winner will advance to the state contest to be held in Grand Rapids in June. If successful at the state level, he or she will advance to the grand lodge level to be held in New York City in August.

Students interested in participating in the competition should contact their respective school principals for further information on this contest.

Belleville clerk wins in lottery

A 34-year-old Belleville woman was one of six people to collect $25,000 in last week's lottery superdrawing.

Mildred Delaney, a clerk, joined contestants from all over the state to take part in the weekly jackpot drawing.

A 39-year-old housewife from Southgate collected the top prize of $200,000 in the drawing.

THE NUMBER. The artist's individual profits will be his own. Call 699-2039 for reservations.

Among the media already entered in the fair are oils, water colors, macramé, pottery, weaving, China painting, silver jewelry, copper sculpture, ceramics and leatherworks. Because many of the artists are displaying for the first time, Mrs. Lo Presto said, prices should be very reasonable.

Local exhibitors will include Dave Medley, Mrs. Earl Jacox, Sandy Askew, Sally

Boelter, Connie Riggs, Lydia Hearn, several elementary school groups, high school students and Girl Scout troops. Each artist is limited to two media. In case of rain, the show will be held in the Belleville High School gymnasium.

Taylor church setting for spring ceremony

Arrangements of white gladiolus, carnations and potted palms formed the background for the double ring ceremony which united Anita Marguerite Dezomits and Timothy Owen Lenderman in holy matrimony.

Taylor Assembly of God Church was reserved for the 6 p.m. April 6 nuptials read by the Rev. Doyle Vaughn before some 150 assembled guests. Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Dezomits of 11364 Inkster Rd., Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Lenderman Jr. of 11697 Ziegler Rd., Taylor.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Mavis Rocheleau, was at the organ to play "Today" and "Shangri-la" on the organ.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, Anita appeared in a silk satin gown which had been made by her mother. The princess mode dress was designed with a raised neckline, puffed organza sleeves cuffed in satin, and a detachable chapel train.

Her illusion veil, also made by her mother, extended to chapel length from a silk satin cap embellished with lace and seed pearls. A corsage of tea roses centered the bouquet of carnations, baby's breath and ivy which completed her ensemble.

Wearing rainbow-colored gowns, made by the bride's mother, were the matron of honor, Mrs. Grace Rhode of Romulus, in blue; Mrs. Beverly Cantrell of Taylor, in mint green; and Nancy Ellen Dezomits, the bride's sister, in yellow for her role as junior bridesmaid.

Identically styled, the dotted swiss halter frocks were worn with matching long-sleeved jackets and picture hats trimmed with bows and netting.

Flowergirl was the bride's 7-year-old cousin, Jacqueline Mitchell of Taylor. Her toe-touching dress of pink dotted swiss was worn with a matching picture hat.

BEST MAN was Ron Floyd of Taylor. Ushers were Ken Cantrell and the bridegroom's brother, Rick Lenderman, both of Taylor.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dezomits wore a floor-length orchid polyester A-line gown while the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Lenderman, chose to wear an olive green crepe A-line formal. Both were presented with corsages of white carnations.

The wedding reception was held at the V.F.W. Hall in Romulus with 200 guests attending. The newlyweds are now making their home at 27417 Goddard Rd., Romulus.

The new Mrs. Lenderman was graduated from Romulus High School and her husband from Kennedy High School in Taylor the same year, 1971. They are both employed at Banner Spring and 4 Slide, Inc., of Taylor.

The bridegroom's parents entertained at the rehearsal dinner at their home the evening before the wedding.

Disruptions caused shortage

The short supply of meat in early 1974 came about because of a series of events last summer and spring. Meat industry spokesmen say the meat boycott, price ceilings and higher feed costs created market disruptions which discouraged increased production of meat animals which ordinarily would have been moving to market in the first quarter of 1974.

Three-year old Billy Martin (center) had his dad, George Martin, help him with the bulletin board he was making as a gift. Taking in the scene was four-year-old Gretchen Loyd, daughter of the Bill Loyds (at left).

The children at Carousel Co-op Nursery School recently invited their dads to view "a regular day at nursery school" with four Sundays in March and April set aside for the visitors.

Each child with "a little help from dad" made a bulletin board as a special art project to present to his or her mother on Mother's Day. Other than that, the usual daily schedule was observed.

Included on the itinerary were free play; one hour of climbing, sliding, bouncing, tumbling, balancing, carpentry, puzzles, games, and painting plus a "time to pretend" in the child-sized playhouse.

Next was show and tell, a time for conversation and listening followed by snack time with dads and kids alike sharing in cookies and juice.

MUSIC TIME involved the group in favorite songs as well as a chance to act out finger plays. Group activity time when the children discuss "ways to move" and pretend to be ducks, turtles, rabbits, trains and airplanes concluded the activities.

The co-operative nursery is unique in that parents actually can "share their child's nursery school experience. Through parent-participation, they can see their child interact in group situations as they learn to verbalize, share, cooperate, make friends and enjoy the time under the guidance of experienced teachers.

Carousal is accepting applications for classes in September for three and four-year olds. Each class meets twice weekly for two and a quarter hours at the Belleville United Presbyterian Church on Belleville Road. Interested parents may call M. Dobson, membership chairman for 1974, at 699-7624, or S. Estermyer, nursery president, at 697-7494.

Debbie Askew and Debbie Lindberg filled Easter eggs with candy and the girls had an Easter egg hunt.

The cadettes were working on their child care badge. They thank Ruby Ursing and the Nursery Committee for this opportunity.

County drops tax proposal for law enforcement

Citing a lack of support, the chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has dropped his proposal for one-mill property levy for local and county public safety programs.

Commissioner Robert E. FitzPatrick has asked the general government committee of the board of commissioners to "postpone indefinitely further consideration of the proposal" because of broad opposition.

FitzPatrick's request was made in a letter to Commissioner Samuel A. Turner (D-Detroit), chairman of the committee.

The committee was to evaluate the idea and recommend whether or not the proposal should be put before the voters in the upcoming August primary election.

THE CHAIRMAN said his proposal received no support from the county sheriff, prosecuting attorney, Wayne County Circuit or Recorder's Courts judges or local police chiefs.

Fourteen communities in the county have protested the proposed tax. According to FitzPatrick, the communities would prefer to raise any needed millage for police purposes locally rather than depend on a countywide levy.

The taxes collected under the proposed one mill levy would return 80 per cent of the $13.3 million annual revenue to the 43 cities and townships through a fair share formula.

The return would amount to about $10.7 million.

The county would have retained 20 per cent, or $2.6 million to help finance law enforcement and court programs for which federal funds are expiring.

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer, in commenting on FitzPatrick's action, said:

"The township board has approved a resolution, opposing this proposed special election. I, for one, was never in favor of supporting the one-mill levy. Ever since I have been in office the Wayne County Sheriff has threatened to cut off services."

The sheriff's department patrols Van Buren Township.

The supervisor added that the matter of additional millage to finance local police services was presented to the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

THE BOARD AGREED to place the additional one-mill levy on the ballot in the next township election.

"We would be called uncooperative by county officials, if we did not agree to put the question on the ballot," Gollwitzer said.

He added that the millage proposal for police services will remain on the ballot.

Officer collects diploma

A member of the Wayne County Sheriff Department's Road Patrol Division received a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice from Madonna College during graduation exercises.

Ptl. William Wadsworth of Romulus, who has been with the sheriff's department for six years and was recipient of the degree.

Wadsworth and his wife, Virginia, are the parents of three children. They have been Romulus residents for seven years.

Wadsworth is a 1972 graduate of Henry Ford Community College.

Hearing to study new fees

A public hearing on a proposed rate and fee schedule for waste water disposal services will be held at 9:30 a.m. May 14 by the Wayne County Board of Public Works.

Van Buren Township officials will be represented at the hearing by the township engineers and a member of the township's water department.

In November the county board of public works approved a sewer use regulation for facilities under its jurisdiction.

To equitably distribute the cost of compliance with the new regulation, the board determined that certain modifications should be made in the rate schedule.

On Feb. 28, the board adopted a proposed rate and fee schedule, recommended by its staff, in relation to sewage districts under its jurisdiction.

The proposed rates and fee program will become effective July 1.

Banquet hosts father, sons

The annual father and son banquet of the First United Methodist Church, 417 Charles St., Belleville, will be held at 6:30 tonight at the church.

The evening's program will include a guest speaker from the University of Michigan's football team.

Tickets cost $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 years of age.

Clean up workers needed

Van Buren Township officials have issued another call for volunteers to help clean up and repair the township's new recreational facility, Van Buren Park, in time for its May 27 opening. Van Buren Township's Parks and Recreation Director Jeffery Clark said that two work bees have been scheduled for Saturday and May 11 to ready the park for summer visitors. Interested persons should contact Clark at 699-2001 for further information on the work bees. The 101-acre recreational site, formerly owned by the Detroit Edison Co., is located on the north shore of Belleville Lake. Volunteers, taking part in the work bees, should bring a sack lunch. Coffee and donuts will be provided.

In New Boston Township family relocates business

The Huron Township business scene has a new addition, and it's firm that has been operating in the area since 1962.

G. Syer and Son is a family-owned business that had its origins in a car and trailer. What began with a used chain saw now has blossomed into a new facility on Huron River Drive in New Boston.

Eleanor and Gerry Syer operate the business along with their son, Mike.

When the business first began in 1962, Syer handled the woodcutting chores while his wife drove the truck and his son took care of deliveries. In 1969 they began using a particular chain saw and within two years acquired a franchise for that brand. By 1970, the business was expanded to handle lawn and garden supplies with the addition of grading and excavation and soil and stone deliveries, matching development in the township.

The store offers area residents a wide variety of lawn care products.

The new store is located at 19162 Huron River Dr.

NEW BUSINESS — Gerry and Eleanor Syer are all smiles as they show off their new store in New Boston. The Syers have been in lawn care business in Huron Township since 1962, and have relocated on Huron River Drive to offer residents their ideal of a proper lawn care center.

Students create 'ideal' community

The study of communities took in a bit more than the usual at Gordonier Elementary School where second grade students put their newly acquired information into projects depicting community life and the development of cities.

The youngsters are students in Paula Patschull's classes. The lesson included a discussion on how and why towns and cities are necessary, how they grow and the various problems they face.

Each youngster designed his or her own community on paper, some taking the exercise beyond that to create collages of cities with cut outs from magazines and newspapers.

As a dash of something extra for the study unit, the students commandeered a portable blackboard and, armed with construction paper, marking pens and crayons, they constructed their own town full of flowers, trees and factories.

Each child contributed at least one item to the class as a whole and to the planned community.

The end result was a community which they wholeheartedly agreed would be a fun and pretty place to live in.

CHANI BESRA

He adopts daughter for club

A Belleville resident has adopted a daughter he may never see even though he provides her with the necessary items for survival. Fred Smith has become a member of the Foster Parents Mission Club of Detroit.

The adopted daughter is Chani Besra, 10, of Bangladesh.

The Foster Parents Mission Club is an organization dedicated to aiding destitute Asian children.

Foster parents donate $6 a month for their child's care and $5 per year for office expenses.

The adoption support is kept at the barest minimum, so that more needy children may be cared for, a club spokesman said. All donations are tax deductible.

Smith, who resides at 44000 Michigan Ave., Belleville writes to his "daughter." The children are told there is someone far away who loves them.

On 1972 levies Tax records closed

A check for $4,642.80, representing the last collectable 1972 personal property taxes due Van Buren Township, has been received.

The taxes were due by Universal Airlines that maintained facilities at the Willow Run airport. The firm went into bankruptcy in 1972.

The township, filed a lien for the taxes due with the federal court in Oakland, Calif.

The court closed the bankruptcy proceedings with a distribution of 100 per cent dividend payment, Van Buren Township Treasurer Ralph Hedman said.

Approximately $800 of the check goes to Wayne County, $840 goes to the township, and about $3,000 goes to the Van Buren Public School district, he added.

With the receipt of the check from Universal Airlines, the township tax records for 1972 can be closed, Hedman said.

"This brings the total amount of taxes we collected in 1972 to 99.9 per cent," the treasurer added. "Of the more than $4 million due, only $144.46 had to be written off as uncollectable."

Ex-editor assumes post

The former editor of the Belleville Enterprise has been appointed executive director of the National Association of Theater Owners of Michigan Inc. (NATO).

William Garwood has been appointed to the post, according to Martin Shafer, president of NATO.

"Garwood brings a wide range of public relations experience as well as executive ability to this demanding and important position," Shafer said.

Garwood has been both a magazine and newspaper editor as well as business manager for several publications.

Police begin preparations for vehicle inspection plan

Motor vehicle inspection teams from the Michigan State Police and about 40 other agencies are about to start their 1974 random check lane programs.

Last year, 302,857 motor vehicles were checked in the state by 12 teams from the state police and by officers from 43 participating law enforcement agencies.

Passenger vehicles checked had an initial passing rate of 41 per cent, up slightly from the previous year.

Inspecting officers issued 61,807 traffic citations, which included 16,124 for operator license deficiencies and 832 for driving on revoked or suspended licenses. Troopers made 418 criminal arrests.

Motorists, concerned about having their vehicles ready for inspection, are reminded that the inspection items include tires, brakes, lights, steering, turn signals, horn, exhaust system, windshield wipers and washers, glass areas and driver and car credentials.

State police teams are completing the annual inspection of school buses in the state and will be checking cars within two weeks.

Let NBD take that extra $10, before someone else does.

Almost everyone has a little money left over after all the bills are paid.

It may be $10, $30 or $5.

Whatever the amount, it's extra money that all too often disappears, leaving you at the end of the year with a sizable sum of money you have no idea what happened to.

Which is why we'd like to suggest you put that $10, $30 or $5 in the bank.

Not only will you get back more than you put in, your money's always available. With our EveryDay Interest Account, you can withdraw anytime without losing the interest you've earned up to that time.

We've also instituted an elaborate electronic system that allows you to make deposits (and withdrawals) at any NBD office. So that no matter where you are, we're there to help.

And if you think your extra money every month can't amount to much, last year National Bank of Detroit paid out more than $90,000,000 interest.

A lot of it was earned $10, $30 and $5 at a time.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. - DIRECTORS

This is a true story...Unpaid pledges caused a financial problem for a church. A business man member accepted an assignment to try to collect what he could on pledges from 25 regular absentees from church worship. Before the year was over, TWENTY THREE of the 25 paid up!

First, he called on each of the 25 people personally. He did NOT mention money. Instead, he told them they were missed and invited them to resume church worship. He then mailed a handwritten post card to every one of them on Thursday and continued to mail similar cards every Thursday. Each card mentioned the sermon topic for the next Sunday and stressed he would be waiting for them on the front steps to greet them. Never a word about money.

Three weeks went by with no response. ELEVEN people showed up on the 4th Sunday! He continued the post card campaign for six months. One by one, he welcomed 12 more absentees as they came back to church. He accomplished this with simple reasoning. He told these people they were missed and kept on telling them...week after week. The idea works for churches as well as in business...

Chaise lounge overcomes shortage's lack of activity

What should you do while waiting for this energy crisis to let up?

Build yourself a cozy retreat where you can enjoy nature's bounties in your own backyard.

The two-way chaise lounge is designed for togetherness, probably one of the few benefits of the gasoline shortage.

The outdoor chaise is a novel idea. It's an adaption of the double-chaise design, but in this case, the two backrests face each other, inviting conversation.

The wheels make it mobile and it can be outfitted with standard-size chaise pads for extra comfort. The backs are adjustable for reading or conversation, or lower flat for napping.

It's designed to support a colorful shady umbrella.

This project can save money two ways. By giving your backyard all the comforts of a vacation resort, you and your

Fencing enhances grounds

When selecting fencing, keep in mind what it is to be used for, according to a Michigan State University extension landscape architect. A fence can be used for utility value, to enhance the beauty of the yard or a combination of the two.

For many homeowners fencing is purely for utility purposes, so wire fencing often is selected, but it is not considered very decorative. Wire fence keeps small animals and children within a confined area. The chain link fence does a very effective job because it is difficult for small children to climb.

A fence also can be used to enhance the beauty of the yard and its plantings. It can accent or screen off an area for privacy. Many styles of wire fence are available with a green vinyl coating. Wood fences are stylish and provide a natural look, but they may require additional maintenance.

Before erecting a new fence, check for local regulations or ordinances on fencing, especially in regard to building a property-line fence.

family can stay right at home this summer. Also, by building the unique piece, you'll save plenty of money and get a solid piece of furniture in the bargain.

Trace the pattern parts on wood, saw out and assemble. It's so easy that even an inexperienced amateur can do it.

To obtain the two-way chaise order pattern 372. It costs $1 (add 25 cents for postage and handling or 50 cents for airmail) by cash, check or money order.

A "Patterns For Better Living" book offers more than 500 woodworking and handicraft projects for leisure time. It costs $1.

DOUBLE SEAT—To overcome the boredom of the energy crisis, do-it-yourselfers can get re-acquainted with their tools while constructing a useful double seat chaise lounge. The lounge has facing seats that raise and lower to adapt to reading, napping or conversation. A dash of lounge pads adds the final touch to a comfortable retreat for the outdoors.

Dash of outdoor living

Deck is ideal for relaxation

When the lawn has been trimmed or the housework finished, it's great to have a place that's ready for relaxing, a comfortable spot to sit down, stretch out and let a few idle moments drift by.

Building a new deck of western wood for an outdoor relaxing area offers a related bonus, because it's likely the deck will replace some of the lawn and cut down on yard maintenance time.

A deck with benches and room for a table and chairs provides an activity area that will be enjoyed by all members of a family and is versatile enough for youthful or adult interests.

THE DECK ADDED by one family in the yard of their rural home helped break the grade in the landscaping of the sloping lot. The deck is down three steps alongside a walkway from the rear of the house. The walk then descends a flight of steps to a swimming pool.

The deck sets about and far enough back from the pool to avoid splashes, yet the two combine for an attractive entertaining area.

A three-foot high open railing of 2 by 3-inch Douglas fir surrounds the deck, except on the side of the wide steps. A 2 by 8-inch flat cap on the railing makes a good counter for glasses, books or other items.

Three sections of the railing have built-on benches with sets made up of 2 by 3 pieces of wood. One of the benches is wide enough for a chaise lounge cushion, for sunbathing or just stretching out on after working or swimming.

THE 2 BY 3-INCH fir also is used for the decking and is laid flat matching the bench seats. The wood was left unfinished and weathered to a pewter gray.

A table and patio chairs complete the deck as a setting for family outdoor living or entertaining, ranging from morning coffee with neighbors to extra seating for dinner parties.

Carport can blend into home while providing needed cover

Carports once were disdained as poor relatives to garages. A few years back, home owners were expected to enclose their auto shelters, the siding lumber to do it was expensive.

Today the carport has earned its place, functionally and visually. Its roof protects the family vehicle adequately for all, but the severest winter spells, and in the summer it shades out the sun to make the car cooler to touch.

An open shelter is simpler to build, but care in styling is just as vital, especially if it is located at the front of the house. Its lines must be compatible. Exposed wood framing will blend with any material on the house exterior.

A CARPORT can be less a barrier to the eye than the solid bulk of a garage, but if it presents a cavernous look, partial walls of spaced slats are the remedy.

Turning its car entrance to right angles from the street allows a more secluded view from the front. Simple post and beam framing reduces the profile, and partial screening fills in without blocking up the appearance.

Leaving an open space between its top and the carport ceiling contributes to the open, airy appearance.

"Best way to cure snow and salt burn... GRAND PRIZE* Lawn & Garden Gypsum."

says Jerry Baker, America's Master Gardener and author of Plants Are Like People.

GRAND PRIZE is a natural soil conditioner that loosens hard soil; prevents salt burn by leaching out harmful sodium. In untreated lawns where burn has already occurred, it restores circulation of air and water to overcome compaction caused by piled-up snow.

GRAND PRIZE lets choked-up soil breathe again, seeds germinate faster, fertilizers work better and roots grow deeper. GRAND PRIZE will not harm children or pets, can be applied anywhere in any season. Recommended usage to correct salt damage is 20 to 40 pounds per 100 sq. ft.

Students get 'doughy' instruction on pizzas

The tastes of Italy recently invaded Merriman Elementary School in Romulus, when students took pizzerias to task in creating their own yummy circles of cheese, pepperoni and mushrooms. The students, members of Sophie Radakovich's third grade class, tackled the job of stretching and decorating the dough as part of a Career Education Pilot Program at the school.

The program has students from Eastern Michigan University working with teachers in the classrooms in presenting various lessons as part of the collegians' pre-student teaching experience.

UNDER THE tutelage of Chris Bowman, an employee of a Dino's Pizza in Dearborn, the youngsters learned how to stretch the dough both on a table top and by spinning it in the air.

Materials for the project were provided by Bowman's employer, James Hearn.

Scouts hold paper drive

Boy Scout Troop 1071, sponsored by the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, will hold a paper drive Saturday.

Papers may be dropped off at 140 S. Edgemont St., Belleville, and pickups can be arranged by calling 697-7159.

Before attempting the somewhat sticky project, the students were introduced to the pizza-making process through discussions and slides.

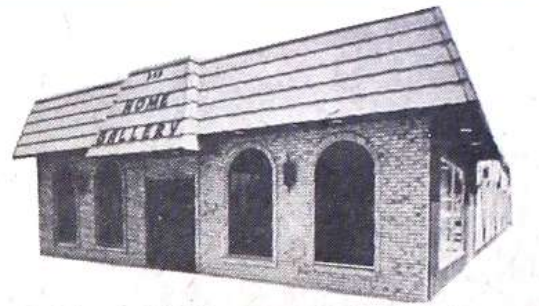

BRING ON THE TRIMMINGS — Third grader Ruth Fischer hollars for the trimmings as she gets ready to smother her pizza dough with mushrooms, pepperoni and extra cheese. The youngsters made the yummy circles as part of a career pilot program at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus. With a little help from an employee of a pizza franchise, the students made their own pizzas.

teacher along with other activities related to the circular delights. Several batches of dough made loud plops on desk tops as the students learned to master the art of spinning the pizza, and some youngsters found their fingers surrounded by the sticky paste when they tried to give it an extra stretch.

WHEN THE DOUGH was ready for its chewy covering, the youngsters passed around containers of cheese, pepperoni and mushrooms. The final results were taken home to their respective families for judging and enjoyment.

For the students, the class time was an interesting way to discover school — Italian-style.

To avoid problems Kite flying requires care

Though flying a kite is considered an innocuous sport, to be safe the sport requires a bit more caution than you might imagine.

"You're all familiar with Charlie Brown's hopeless ineptitude in keeping his kite airborne," an insurance agent said. "But the hazards are not only to the kite itself."

He suggests you instruct your child in the following safety procedures when indulging in this sport:

- since telephone and power lines seem to have a veritable magnetic attraction for kites, fly them in a level, open area where they have plenty of room to maneuver;
- should the kite become entangled in power lines, leave it;
- Ben Franklin's famous experiment notwithstanding, kites should be flown only in dry weather;
- never use string containing any metallic fibers, tinsel or wire;
- because of electrical danger, kites should not be flown over radio or television aerials, either, and
- though it's fun to watch the kite takeoff into the air, be wary about running backwards while getting it aloft.

Office to handle expansion woes

The Wayne County Road Commission has opened a field office at Detroit Metropolitan Airport to provide information and assistance to those persons who will be relocated because of planned airport expansion.

The office has been set up in Room 107 of Building 358 of the old Air National Guard Terminal on Middlebelt Road between Wick and Goddard roads in Romulus.

Right-of-way agents from the commission's real estate division will be on hand to answer questions and find solutions to moving problems brought on by the expansion program.

The airport will be enlarged in the area north of Eureka Road, east of Middlebelt and north and south of Northline.

The office will be open from 1 to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

According to Wayne County Road Commission Chairman Michael Berry and Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt, the information center should end rumors and unreliable information about the airport expansion plans.

Proposal seeks study of foreign investments

Legislation calling for a study of foreign investments in the United States has been introduced in the House of Representatives.

The Foreign Investment Study Act of 1974 authorizes a two-year, in-depth study of all aspects of foreign investment in the United States, including an analysis of existing state and federal regulations, and an evaluation of foreign investment laws in other nations.

Congressman William D. Ford said that the need for such a study was indicated by hearings held in January and February by the Subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy.

"THESE HEARINGS provided a mass of contradictory evidence," including a Department of Commerce estimate that foreign investments in America totaled $14.5 billion at the end of 1972," Ford added. "By contrast, a recent academic study estimated that direct foreign investments in manufacturing, mining and petroleum alone totaled more than $38 billion."

"To cite another example, the administration estimated the increase in foreign investment during 1973 at about $1.5 billion. A private study showed an increase of more than $2 billion just for the March-November period."

The Michigan Democrat said the continuing energy crisis has accelerated the foreign investment problem.

"The oil producing nations of the Middle East are reaping vast profits estimated at $10 billion annually," he added. "Other nations, notably Germany and Japan, have enjoyed great prosperity and accumulated large amounts of capital."

"THESE IMMENSE sums will obviously be invested and we expect much of it to be invested in the United States."

"We already hear stories of foreign purchase of large agricultural holdings, transportation facilities, manufacturing corporations, and such natural resources as timberland and coal mines."

"Investigation thus far has failed to either prove or disprove these rumors.

"Another revelation of the hearings was the hodge-podge of state and federal regulations governing foreign investments. We must develop consistent and coordinated state-federal policies to protect the American economy."

THE FEDERAL Investment Study Act would require an interim report at the end of one year, and a complete report in two years.

"In the meantime, it is imperative that we begin to assemble reliable data and be ready to take appropriate action when the study is completed," Ford said. "The next decade will bring radical shifts in the world economy, and we owe it to the American people to be prepared to maintain American interests in what may become an economic readjustment of major proportions."

Church dedicates new facility

Formal dedication ceremonies of the Zion Missionary Church and parsonage, 89 S. Edgemont St., Belleville, will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday. The church is adjacent to the Edgemont Elementary School.

A church homecoming during regular services will be followed by the dedication rites.

The Rev. David A. Brown, pastor, said all friends and former visitors of Zion Missionary Church may join parishioners at the 10 a.m. Sunday School and 11 a.m. worship services. A potluck dinner also will be held on the church lawn.

Carl Loshinskie, head trustee and member of the church's board, has made arrangements for "The White Sisters" to sing in the afternoon.

Former pastors, The Rev. Mark Batterbee, The Rev. Curt Collier, The Rev. Don Crocker and The Rev. Marcus Krake will join the superintendent of the Michigan district, The Rev. J.E. Tuckey, for the occasion.

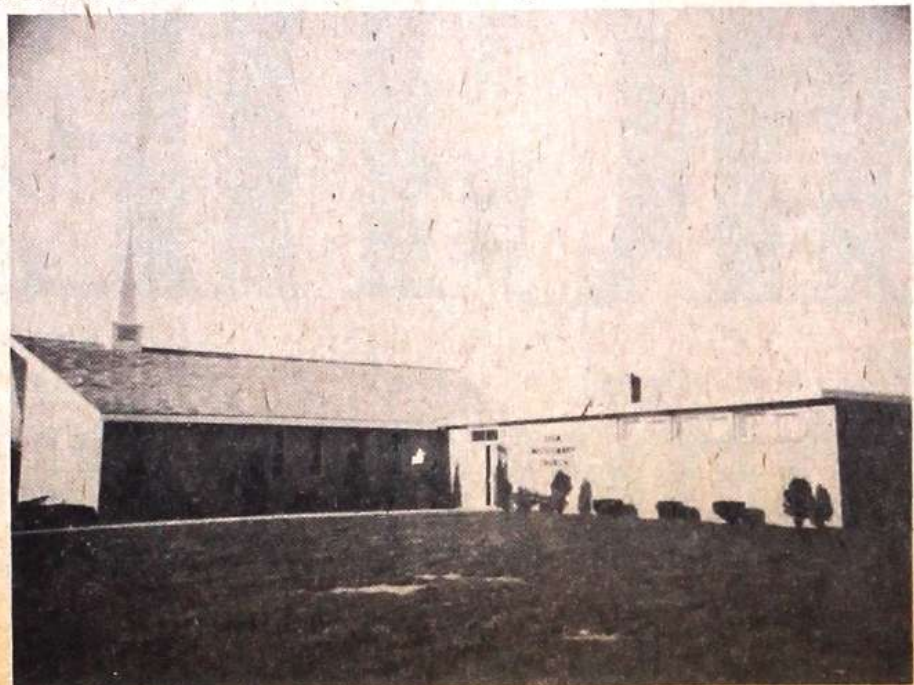

"Plan to join us Sunday as we officially dedicate these buildings to God," The Rev. Brown said. "We know we can't experience God's fullest blessings unless everything is given back to him."

The pastor thanked the City of Belleville and Mayor Royce

E. Smith for the free fill dirt from recent city construction and Samuel LoPresto, principal of the Edgemont

Elementary School, for use of school property for parking during road construction at the church.

Students compete for top awards in automaker's national economy run

Thousands of high school drivers in the United States will be competing for scholarships in a nationally coordinated student economy run set for Saturday.

Aimed at dramatizing the need for maximum fuel efficiency through properly tuned engines, the program is co-sponsored by the Jaycees and Toyota dealers, in conjunction with local high schools.

"Through this program we hope to gain enthusiastic support from young drivers, their parents and others in the community for better driving habits, mileage economy and cleaner air through improved emission control," said Norman D. Lean, vice president and general operations manager for Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc.

STUDENTS will be competing within Toyota's 12 distributor areas across the country, with Toyota providing $18,000 in scholarships and donations. Two winning drivers from each area will receive a $500 scholarship, to be applied toward further education at the college of their choice.

Each high school with winning drivers will receive a $300 donation, in hopes the money will be used to advance instruction in automotive efficiency, driver education or ecology. In addition, each Jaycee chapter sponsoring a winning team will receive $200.

Six student drivers selected from each participating high school will have six hours to drive over a 150-mile course. The students will be divided into three teams of two drivers, each accompanied by a Jaycee representative. Their goal will be to achieve the greatest miles-per-gallon possible.

LOCAL JAYCEE chapters currently are contacting high schools throughout the 12 distributor areas. A drawing of all qualified registrants will determine the six drivers from each school, plus two alternates.

For information, call (213) 770-1730.

Army unit starts recruiting drive

"Operation Over the Top" is the code name for an intensive recruiting campaign designed to fill vacancies in Army Reserve units in Michigan, Indiana and Western Wayne County.

The 309th Civil Affairs Group, an Inkster-based Army Reserve unit, is planning on full participation in "Operation Over the Top." The 309th's principal effort will be through six-to-eight man recruiting teams dispatched to major shopping centers in the area. However, personnel will also remain at the 309th's home station, the Raymond Zussman U.S. Army Reserve Center at 3200 South Beech Daly Road, Inkster, to greet visitors and to answer any questions they may have about the Army Reserve program.

The 309th Civil Affairs Group was first organized in Detroit in 1949, moving to Inkster in 1963. The 309th's wartime mission would be to assist U.S. combat units in the operation and supervision of civilian institutions in liberated or occupied territories.

The 309th is unusual among reserve units in that its summer training often consists of a two-week seminar at a university. Four such seminars have been held in the past seven years, with the most recent one being held at The American University in Washington, D.C. last year.

Those interested in joining the 309th or simply wishing more information about the Army program can contact either Lewis or Bonner at 365-6280. The 309th Civil Affairs Group can be contacted directly at 561-4047.

Course covers city life

Students at the University of Michigan-Dearborn now may study the city as well as live in it, thanks to a new bachelor of arts degree program in urban and regional studies.

"For the first time we have an academic concentration program that reflects the urban orientation of the campus, an initial response to a definite student interest in the city," said Dr. Eugene Arden, UM-D provost and dean of academic affairs.

To be offered beginning next September, the program is the first in UM-D's new Division of Interdisciplinary Studies.

Students may specialize in three major areas within the program: public policy, urban environment, and urban civilization.

New classes for blind open at training center

Twenty blind people from as far away as Spain and Puerto Rico have begun training at the Leader Dogs for the Blind School in Rochester.

The school, the largest of its kind in the world, was established by the Lions of Michigan in 1939. Its facilities and training are available to all applicants free of charge.

The present students, from nine states and two foreign countries, are being accommodated at the school where they will learn to handle a leader dog.

The dogs have been donated and are between the ages of one and 2½ years. Breeds included in the animal roster are German Shepherds, Labradors and Golden Retrievers.

The board of trustees, that operates the school for the Lions group, has voted to build a third addition to the dormitory. When completed it will house 32 students, three trainers and a second housemother.

Depending on the availability of building materials, the new addition may be ready in November for its first group of trainees in the four-week program.

For further information on the school and the services available contact Leader Dogs for the Blind, 1039 Rochester Rd., Rochester 48063.

If you've been considering a bigger house, or a newer one, there'll never be a better time than right now to make your move.

And, right now, National Bank of Detroit can help you make that move. We have mortgage money to lend, and we lend more than any other bank in town.

We'll give you prompt word on the

We might also save you some money. Our closing fee on uninsured conventional mortgages is a simple flat fee that has nothing to do with the size of your

Why not look into a mortgage loan now at any of the more than 100 offices of NBD.

Federal bill could outlaw secret data records

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman
Washington Bureau Chief

In a fearful vision of the future, the late English author George Orwell foresaw a society completely devoid of privacy.

Just over 200 years ago Thomas Jefferson had the exact opposite vision. The America, he had in mind, was one where every citizen possessed the personal right of privacy. That was inherent in the Declaration of Independence's reference to the rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The question now arises, whether Jefferson's dream is being replaced by Orwell's nightmare in the America of today, said Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Mich.).

URGING CONGRESS to take strong action against the invasion of privacy, Broomfield

'But the frightening aspect of this is most people are not aware such records exist.'

added: "As our society becomes more computerized, we must plan ahead to insure the right of privacy for future generations."

"Such a fundamental right must be protected while it still exists. If action is not taken now, privacy as a liberty may become extinct."

For years Broomfield has supported efforts in Congress to act in this field. The latest legislation, pending before both the House and Senate, would make the existence of secret data banks illegal. Additionally, the bill would prevent any information collected on an individual for one purpose from being used for other purposes.

In 1970 Congress took a first step to protect privacy by enacting the Fair Credit Reporting Act. Under this statute, an individual must be notified when any adverse action is taken against him on the basis of a report from a record keeping system. Citizens have the opportunity to correct those reports when they contain inaccurate information.

MANY AMERICANS have first hand knowledge of cases where a person suddenly opens his morning mail to find he has been stripped of his credit rating through no fault of his own, but because of a foul-up in the computers. The 1970 act was designed to correct such situations.

Pointing out that our increasingly technological society is beginning to take on a sinister "big brother" atmosphere, Broomfield said:

"The fathers of this country would doubtless be shocked to know that the names of over 150 million Americans are in computer banks around the country. Even more shocking is the fact that in most cases unrestricted and improper use of this personal information is being made.

"Many times the information itself is inaccurate, and the result has been the withholding of credit or jobs from individuals.

"BUT THE FRIGHTENING aspect of this is that most citizens are not even aware that such records exist, or how to find out what they contain."

In other words, unless Congress acts, the "big brother" Orwell dreaded could be looking over your shoulder and you would not even know it — a disturbing thought, if there ever was one.

Consumer alliance wages war on proposed Edison rate hike

The Michigan Consumer Alliance vigorously will oppose a $92.9 million rate increase recently requested by the Detroit Edison Co.

Edison has requested the utility service rate hike because of increased operating costs and has accompanied the request with a large-scale advertising campaign, a company spokesman said.

"This comes at a bad time for the Michigan economic situation, with employment at 10 per cent and the high cost of food, gas and other utilities," said the alliance energy committee chairman, Lynn Ehrle.

"THIS REQUEST, if granted by the Michigan Public Service Commission, will place an undue burden on low and middle-income persons and those on fixed incomes," he added.

The rate request would raise the average household's electric bill by $1.55 per month.

A recent Edison rate increase went into effect in last month's billings in the area. Ehrle called the new rate hike a "piggyback refill."

"One gets finished and they go for another one," he said. "We are holding Gov. Milliken responsible for this round of increase requests because of his two Republican appointees."

LEGISLATION is being drawn up to eliminate this practice, Ehrle said. It should reach the Michigan Senate shortly. The legislation would create a one-year waiting period between increases.

"It's rough on the staff of the Public Service Commission and its even rougher on us because we're a volunteer group," Ehrle said. "We're working constantly."

The consumer alliance is a nonpartisan, nonprofit consumer agency with 25 to 30 groups operating in Michigan.

The Edison campaign in the news media also is under attack because it is "unnecessary and expensive," he said.

LEGISLATION WILL be introduced soon by State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) to prohibit advertising by public utilities, and the alliance is supporting the planned bill, Ehrle added.

"They're regional monopolies; they have a guaranteed rate of return, so why should they advertise?" he asked.

The alliance is soliciting private complaints about Edison service to present to the Public Service Commission. Letters can be sent to Box 1051-A, Detroit, Michigan 48232.

Apartment complex holds ribbon-cutting ceremonies

Wayne's newest apartment complex, the Westchester Towers on Michigan Avenue and Elizabeth Street opened with recent ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

The 224-unit complex features one-and-two-bedroom units complete with shag carpeting, appliances, a trash compactor chute on each floor and draperies in each unit.

For the entire building, the bottom two floors hold a year-round swimming pool, sauna room, sun deck, exercise room, party lounge and individual private party rooms as well as a recreation center.

Residents can scrutinize lobby guests on a closed circuit television channel by turning their own sets to the proper channel. The lobby also has a buzzer security system, said the manager, Dennis Entler.

The complex, built by Realtek Corp., is managed by Consolidated Management Corp.

'Phony' bills hit area

Area citizens and businessmen should keep a sharp eye on $20 bills, according to the U.S. Secret Service.

A ring of counterfeiters is operating in Western Wayne County, specializing in $20 bills, an agent said.

A cashier in Danny's Supermarket on Michigan Avenue reported the first incident to Inkster police last week. She noticed the serial number on the bill was faded even though the bill looked good.

Det. Joseph Pluta said no other incidents have been reported, but may occur, since the bills are "good copies" of the currency.

"It's a really good job," a Secret Service agent said.

The bills look normal except for faded spots on the bill and the faded serial number, he added.

Britz' 3-hitter beats Belleville

Romulus snaps 4-game losing streak

RICK BRITZ
Stops Romulus Skid

Rick Britz scattered three Belleville hits to pitch Romulus to a 3-2 victory last week, snapping a four game Romulus losing streak.

Britz, who gave up a run in the second inning, aided his own cause with a run-scoring single in the third that tied the game. His teammates got him two runs in the fourth that clinched it.

"Rick pitched a fine game," said Romulus Coach Bill Cuhnan, "he got into trouble in the last inning but pitched himself out of the jam by striking out the last two batters."

The Romulus hurler finished with nine strikeouts and he also walked three. BELLEVILLE'S Vitold Kaminski started with Lee Stiltner on the mound who went the first three innings before yielding to Dan Mattson. Mattson was tagged with the loss.

The defeat left the Tigers with a 1-2 won-lost record. They'll take on nonleague rival, Wayne Memorial, today at 4 p.m. at home before traveling to Dearborn for their second Suburban 8 Conference clash.

"Dearborn is the power to beat in this league," said Kaminski who, with 20 years of coaching at Belleville, is the dean of area baseball coaches.

"They have a fine ball club."

ROMULUS also has a busy week ahead of it on the diamond. Cuhnan's Eagles clash with Willow Run today (at home, 4 p.m.) and travel to Highland Park on Friday.

In their initial meeting of the season, Belleville took a second inning, 1-0, lead when Gary Ivan worked Britz for a walk and trotted to second when Stillwagon also walked. With men on first and second Dave Dapsi stroked a run-scoring single.

Romulus replied with the equalizer in the third when Don Moore walked, stole second and was chased home with Britz' single.

THE EAGLES made it a 3-1 ball game in the next frame when they parlayed walks to Roy Hollis and Jerry Goodman and Frank Gnas' double into the go-ahead runs.

Belleville kept the outcome in doubt in the seventh thanks to a pair of singles by Stillwagon and Dapsi and a passed ball which set up a sacrifice fly, scoring the final run.

Coach believes kids, not job come first

By TOM MOORADIAN

What comes first "the kids" or "the job"?

That was a decision that former Thurston High head football Coach Bill McDonald, who is presently one of the two assistant principals at Romulus High, had to make in the summer of 1972.

McDonald, who has coached some of the best football players in the country, decided that "the kids came first," so he accepted a controversial job as head coach at Crestwood High School in that year.

For that decision he and his staff, made up of James Urick, now athletic director at Thurston, Michael Pasternak, a ninth grade coach at Crestwood and Frank Santagelo, who is presently between teaching jobs, were suspended from the union for one year by the National Education Association (NEA).

THE FOUR MEN WERE suspended from the teachers' union for applying and taking jobs that were not vacant, according to William P. Haubner, liaison man with the union's committee on professional ethics.

"I don't have any axe to grind with anyone," said McDonald, "not with the people who walked out. That was their decision, or anyone.

"But, in my opinion, the kids come first. A kid is only a senior once and once that opportunity goes, he doesn't ever have it again.

"I was on a sabbatical leave when Crestwood school officials approached me and said that the job was open. I took the job because I didn't want the kids to be left out.

"I know how I would feel as a parent if someone did this to my kids," he added.

McDonald, who had been coaching for nearly two decades, has produced some excellent players including Craig Mutch, former Michigan linebacker who was Thurston's first All-American griddier; Robin Spicer, cornerback for the New York Jets who played at the University of Indiana; Dan Keller, who starred at Iowa State.

Keller is being sought by the Detroit Wheels, and Bobby Graustein, who played in the Ivory League with the University of Pennsylvania as well as Paul Sersen, one of the finest high school guards ever to come out of Michigan. He's playing with Tulsa.

"I LOVE FOOTBALL. And I presently miss the game," continued McDonald. "I'm not sorry that I took the job at Crestwood. I am sorry that we didn't do better than we did."

(Crestwood, which has never had a winning football season, won two of its nine games while McDonald was head coach).

McDonald reiterated what he stressed to other metropolitan newspaper reporters that the NEA decision to bar him had little effect on his finding or holding employment.

"If I get a job done people will hire me," said McDonald, "if I don't I will be rightfully fired. This is the criterion that people should look at. And if the country would accept it, we would be better off.

"And I sincerely feel that Jim Fletcher is one heck of a guy, but was a victim of circumstances. The CEA (Crestwood Education Association, the teachers' union) took advantage of him."

Fletcher held the head coaching job at Crestwood until 1972.

"And I feel the rest of this stuff that the union is trying to create is just a bunch of garbage," McDonald said.

George Gillies is a man for one season - the slow-pitch softball season.

And the 36-year-old president of the Westland Athletic Officials Association has done much to provide the area with the best ump's available.

Now, he feels, it's time for women to officiate.

GEORGE GILLIES

"We will have two women in our ranks this season," announced Gillies, "they are very strong sports orientated gals who will be, in my opinion, a credit to our organization."

The two who will be breaking the sex barrier are Sharon Hodder, a physical education teacher at Westland John Glenn and Ronda Breher, a Westland resident.

"These two women are qualified to ump, so you'll be seeing them around," Gillies added.

"I feel we should have more women officials because there (Continued on Page B-2)

BOWLING FOR A CAUSE—Some 24 members of the Metro Blind Bowlers Association were on hand at Belleville's Lodge Lanes to challenge their sighted rivals in a tournament that launched White Cane Week. Some 300 persons, who donated $177, watched the competition. Some of the participants in the meet included Bill Pyshnik, chairman of the Blind Bowling event (at right), Harry Hunter, and two others who competed in the event.—Enterprise Roman photo.

Metro Blind Bowlers tourney is big hit

The Belleville area Lions Club jumped to a fast start Sunday in its quest for a record White Cane Week fund drive, as nearly 300 persons donated $177 while watching 24 members of the Metro Blind Bowlers Association challenge sighted bowlers to pin duels at Belleville's Lodge Lanes.

And, ironically, said Lions Club public relations official Chum Stockwell, the bowling event was intended for use as a White Cane Week public relations gimmick and not a fund-raiser.

White Cane Week actually begins Friday, as more than 30 local Lions Club members and their wives will comb the Romulus area through Saturday in a door-to-door drive for funds or the blind. The following weekend, the club members will scour the Belleville area for donations.

LAST YEAR'S local donations to the White Cane drive totaled $1300 and the 1974 goal is $2400, according to Stockwell. Lions Club White Cane Week officials are Bruce Webber, chairman, and Bill Pyshnik is chairman of the Blind Bowling event.

The 24 members of Metro Blind Bowlers Association who demonstrated their bowling skills at Lodge Lanes took on 30 sighted challengers before an estimated crowd of 300.

"I've been touring for these public relations causes since 1945 and I never saw a more enthusiastic turnout than Sunday," beamed Harry Hunter, chairman of Blind Activities, Inc., which promotes the orientation and rehabilitation of blind people through recreation in the tri-county area.

"It went surprisingly well. This is an educational experience for the public, letting them see that blind people are not just liabilities but can be active persons."

BLIND ACTIVITIES, INC. also promotes excursions for blind persons to sporting events and social affairs, but not on a group basis, explained Hunter, who is totally blind. "We prefer that they are accompanied by their families on these occasions," he said. "This way it shows the family that it needn't feel that the blind person is a liability, but an asset."

Rosie Casals woos her fans

By DALE GOWING

She's tiny—just 5-foot-1—and her diminutive size is a stark contrast to the image much of the sporting world has of her as a brash and brazen critic of Bobby Riggs.

But off camera, Rosemary Casals works to erase that unfortunate negative image and, as a matter of fact, radiates a charm as powerful as one of her backhand returns.

America's fourth-ranked women's tennis player—with 30 national championships to her credit—25-year-old Rosie charmed a crowd of Westland Center shoppers Monday during a promotional appearance for the J.L. Hudson Co.'s Tennis Week and the Detroit Loves, the World Team Tennis (WTT) league club to which she belongs.

MISS CASALS, who won four straight Wimbledon doubles titles while teaming with Billie Jean King from 1968 to 1971, and whose $30,000 prize for winning the Hilton Head, S.C. Virginia Slims Tournament earlier this year was the largest purse ever won by a woman tennis player, explained the purpose of WTT and her hopes for the Loves in Detroit to several hundred shoppers in the mall, before signing autographs and retreating to an office inside the mall to unwind from a one-day whirlwind tour of the Detroit area.

She was scheduled to be in Philadelphia today for the beginning of a tournament on the Virginia Slims circuit.

Rosie is best remembered for her venomous anti-Riggs television commentary during last fall's famous Bobby Riggs-Billie Jean King "Battle of the Sexes" tennis match, won by King. Her image among many tennis fans soured greatly from that event, something she deeply regrets.

"Unfortunately, that's the image that came out," she said after her appearance in the mall. "It was all part of the show and it should have been a battle of the sexes on and off the court. Gene Scott (her television commentator partner for the Riggs-King match) didn't hold up his half of the show and I wound up doing it all.

"I THINK I was used as a scapegoat by people after Billie Jean won," she continued. "Had Riggs won, people would have forgotten all about it."

Rosie admitted she has "nothing against Bobby. We get along," she said, then laughed. "We're even on speaking terms."

"Bobby has done a lot to promote tennis—not only women's but men's too," admitted the unmarried Californian, who plans to make her home in Detroit when WTT action begins in May.

"He put women's tennis, particularly, on the map, so to speak. Tennis received a lot more attention and the game is really becoming more popular. That Riggs-King match was the event of the century. I don't think even the Ali-Frazier fight had that big of a TV audience."

ROSIE HAS become one of the leading money winners in the game, earning $100,000 last year after winnings of $77,000 in 1972 and $68,000 in 1971. And although she jokingly concedes she likes the money, that is not the sole reason she promoted the forming of the 16-team WTT and signed a handsome contract with the Loves, which made her their first draft pick.

"We need World Team Tennis to expose the game," she explained. "For tennis to get bigger it must attract the general public, not just the tennis goers who will come anyway. You have to put it in public arenas to bring the crowds."

The Loves will play their 22 home matches at Cobo Arena, beginning May 9 with Toronto and concluding Aug. 18 against Mrs. King's Philadelphia Freedoms.

But why put a sport like tennis into a team format, as in World Team Tennis?

"AMERICANS relate to team sports," she said. "They like to root for a team and we think we're giving them what they want and need. Now is the time for tennis to get off the ground, and it's about time."

Miss Casals' teammates on the Loves are Kerry Harris, the only other woman so far; and Allen Stone, Phil Dent and Butch Seewagen. The coach is Jack Smith.

Miss Casals believes the fan turnout at the recent Virginia Slims tournament at Cobo Arena proved tennis will draw in Detroit, and that the Loves will be a success. She finished second in the tourney to Mrs. King.

"The Virginia Slims tournament established a following here," she said. "More than 10,000 people came to Cobo for that which is the largest crowd ever to see a Slims match. I think that says something."

NOT ALL OF the pro's have linked with WTT, however. Male stars Rod Laver, Ilie Nastase, Stan Smith, Arthur Ashe and women's ace Chris Evert have yet to sign contracts with the pioneer league. Ashe, in particular, has spoken out against the team format for tennis, but he also has strong ties with tournament promoter Donald Dell, who strongly opposed WTT.

A REAL CHARMER—Rosemary Casals has a way of charming crowds wherever she goes, and Monday's appearance at Westland Center was no exception. She admits she is trying to erase the negative image she inadvertently created of herself as a television commentator during the "Battle of the Sexes" tennis match between Bobby Riggs and Billie Jean King last fall, and had little trouble Monday as she attracted swarms of autograph seekers.

The WAOA, which provides slow-pitch umps for the Westland, Wayne, Canton, Plymouth, Northville areas, will also expand into Romulus this year, according to the WAOA president.

"We're also considered the best dressed association," the WAOA president said.

GILLIES, WHO PREPPED at Plymouth High where he played on the Rocks varsity baseball team, turned to softball shortly after graduation.

And his long love affair with the sport has turned him into an author.

"I'm writing a book called 'The Golden Hour of Softball' which should be on the stands sometime this summer," said Gillies. "The book encompasses my experiences as a player, an umpire who has officiated league and national tournaments."

"Also, of course, my adventures with the spectators."

Gillies was one of the officials for the game spotlighted between the then world champs, Little Caesar's and New York which was telecast on TV in 1970.

THE BOOK WILL BE his second. He also penned a manual about the basics of umpiring.

"You see and hear a lot of things on and off a softball diamond," relates Gillies, "and I know people will be interested in reading some of the tales we have to tell."

Oh, yes, you won't have to worry about George's English. He also has a Liberal Arts degree from Wayne State University.

Berger; second row are P. Stondmire, O. Wooden, T. McCloskey and M. McMann. (Not available at the time of the photo were R. Warren, J. Allen, M. Hoffman, J. Webb, F. Williams and R. Hollis.)

Romulus tennis coach begins to rebuild

Tom Baldwin, Romulus High's tennis coach, has a rebuilding job to do.

And he doesn't have a single senior to help form the foundation.

Romulus, blanked 7-0 by Ypsilanti Monday, has won one of its five matches this season and the former Ferris State College coach knows it will get worse before it gets better.

"WE'RE YOUNG and somewhat inexperienced," said the Eagle mentor, "most of the fellows on this year's team have only played one year.

"And with no seniors, we're going to have to work hard to catch up."

Baldwin who prepped at Mt. Morris, near Flint, replaced Dave Court as the Eagles' head coach. Last year Romulus won only one meet.

Romulus will be back in action tomorrow as host to River Rouge, then, on Monday, the Eagles will entertain Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

LEAD ROLES—Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," rewritten into a musical by composer-playwright Lionel Bart, will be presented by Belleville High School students with this year's musical production of "Oliver!" Gary Griffith (left) plays Fagin, and Cynthia Palmer plays Nancy, Fagin, the overseer of a youthful band of pickpockets seeks the whereabouts of Oliver, who has escaped the group, from Nancy in a scene from the play.

At Belleville High Students to perform 'Oliver!'

It may not be on the same level as Cecil B. DeMille's parting of the Red Sea, but Belleville High School's presentation of "Oliver!" promises to be something special.

"Oliver!" is the story of a young boy who runs away from an orphanage outside of London in 1890 and meets up with many interesting people, but good and bad, in the city. Once in with a family of youthful pickpockets, Oliver is apprehended by the law. Instead of sending him to jail, his victim, Mr. Brownlow, takes him in as a son.

From there the play progresses with the bad guys, led by Bill Sikes, trying to kidnap Oliver and take him back to "Fagin's Kitchen," where many of the pickpockets reside.

The play is based on the movie, "Oliver Twist." It was written as a musical by composer-playwright Lionel Bart.

Heading up the cast is Paul Krabosky in the title role. Paul starred as Young Patrick in "Mame," last year's school musical. Not only did his acting and singing experience help figure in his selection, but his size makes him a natural for the part.

Gary Griffith plays Fagin, overseer of the troupe of little pickpockets. Gary starred in the role of M. Lindsey Woolsey in "Mame." Besides acting and singing, he also has tried his hand at directing.

The female lead, Nancy, is played by Cynthia Palmer. She appeared in the chorus of "Mame" and last year won the area title of Junior Miss. As Nancy, Cynthia tries to help Oliver run away, even though her boy friend has kidnapped him and would like to keep him away from the London police.

The rest of the cast is sprinkled with many returning "veterans" from the school's last two musicals, "Brigadoon" and "Mame," as well as new talent. Louise Pitcher once again will be directing the show.

Some of the 18 songs to be performed during the play will be "You've Got to Pick a Pocket or Two," "Food, Glorious Food," "As Long as He Needs Me" and "Who will Buy (This Wonderful Morning)." Tickets are on sale in the Belleville High School Auditorium between 2:30 and 5 p.m. weekdays and cost $2.

The opening performance is May 9, and the show closes May 11. The performances begin at 8 p.m. on all three nights.

With more than 200 students, ranging from actors to stage crew, and 15 faculty advisors involved, "Oliver" promises to be as entertaining as last year's production.

HEADS CAST—Belleville High School's presentation of "Oliver!" a musical by composer-playwright Lionel Bart, will be held at 8 p.m. on May 9-11 at the high school auditorium. Heading the cast in the title role is Paul Krabosky as Oliver. He is shown with Cindy Hammond who plays the Artful Dodger. The Dickens' story is about a young boy who runs away from an orphanage in 1890 and meets up with many interesting people,—both good and bad.

Beginning Sunday

Greenfield Village greets spring with famous early movie series

The Famous Early Movies Series at Henry Ford Museum is greeting spring with a collection of Hollywood comedies from the late 1930s and a Shakespeare classic to be presented in the theater on five successive Sunday afternoons, beginning April 28.

Four of the films are from a distinct group of films known as "screwball" comedies. A combination of slapstick and sophistication, these comedies treated life as a crazy adventure and trust in blind luck as a way of life in a catch-as-catch-can world.

They promoted romance and private success as a protection against the public woes of the Depression and deepening international tension.

LEADING OFF the series on April 28 is "Easy Living," a 1937 production reminiscent of the old custard pie and Keystone Cops days. Jean Arthur, Edward Arnold and Ray Milland star in this delightful nonsense which begins with an improbably discarded sable coat and continues through a stock market crash, a riot in the Automat and a whole raft of mistaken identities.

Next is the 1938 near-classic, "Three Men on a Horse." A mad farce concerned with the shadier side of horse-race betting, it stars Frank McHugh, Joan Blondell, Sam Levine, Allen Jenkins and Teddy Hart as an improbable collection of characters ranging from a greeting card poet and three third-rate bookmakers to a lady of uncertain means of support.

On May 12, Bette Davis and Leslie Howard depart from their usual roles to star in the 1937 production of "It's Love I'm After." This light-hearted comedy retreats into Hollywood's unreal view of Broadway and the private lives of its stars for its rich, farce-laden escapism.

The last of the "screwball" comedies on May 19 is "No Time for Comedy." Made in 1940 with James Stewart and Rosalind Russell, this wistful comedy is filled with brittle wit and lively dialogue. The scene again is the Broadway stage, this time filled with such characters as shallow socialites and venomous theatrical directors, vain actors.

THE FINAL presentation of the season on May 26 is Max Reinhardt's 1935 production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

On the movie scene are two new additions to the entertainment lineup, "Zardoz" and "Alice in Wonderland." SEAN CONNERY plays the lead in the former film. Produced by John Boorman, the film is about a futuristic society in which the intellectuals have formed an isolated civilization, protected from the contamination of an outer world.

Connery plays an exterminator from the other world who infiltrates the society to wreak havoc on its institutions.

"Alice in Wonderland" is an animated musical of the Lewis Carroll classic. Such actors as Sterling Holloway and Ed Wynn provide voices for the cartoon characters.

Youngsters will delight to see the escapades of the young girl who falls asleep only to awake in a world of strange tea parties, queer court proceedings and smoking cats.

Court hears pleas

Romulus resident James McCain has been arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Barbara Hackett on nine counts of willfully aiding and assisting in the preparation of fraudulent income tax returns. McCain, who lives at 6094 Second St., stood mute on the charges. A plea of not guilty on each count was entered for him. He has been released on $1,000 personal bond. No trial date has been set.

According to agents of the Internal Revenue Service, McCain allegedly assisted in the preparation of nine income tax returns between 1970 and 1973, amounting to $6,577.55 in false claims.

If convicted of the charges, 36-year-old McCain could receive three years imprisonment, fines of $5,000 for each charge and be required to pay for the cost of prosecution.

For electronic equipment

Public schools face dilemma of repair

By WESTHORP
Enterprise-Roman
Lansing Bureau
Local public schools around the state are faced with a dilemma on how to fix broken down projectors and other electronic teaching gear.

Dr. Charles Ruffing, an audio-visual specialist for the State Department of Education, said local schools are waiting as long as six months to get their electronic teaching equipment repaired. This means that the teaching aids which cost the state and federal government more than $30 million are out of service for long periods of time, he added.

"WHEN THERE is a breakdown with a piece of equipment, it isn't always a major problem," Ruffing said. "But the school ends up having to send it to a commercial repair center."

And these repair centers are located only in three areas of the state.

"Their (the commercial repair center's) backup is so tremendous that a quite a bit of the material is out about a half of a year to get repaired," he added.

Ruffing said that the private repair services don't have the manpower and the necessary spare parts to keep up with the work.

TO REMEDY this situation, Ruffing has proposed that the states' regional education media centers, an appendage of the intermediate school districts, start their own repair services.

Such a system has been tried in the Kalamazoo area, Ruffing said. Repair time has been cut down to a week, with costs trimmed from approximately $20 per hour to $6 per hour.

And to increase the number of trained audio-visual equipment repair men available to public schools, Ruffing's proposal calls for area vocational training centers to start classes in audio-visual repair.

Some of the private repair services have complained that the state's entry into the repair service could affect their business, he said.

BUT RUFFING said it is not his intention to put anybody out of business.

"I just want to find a better way to get the equipment repaired," he added.

Teachers, school administrators and representatives from the private repair services have been invited to submit proposals on how the present system can be improved.

Coed gets scholarship

A New Boston coed, Carol A. Jackson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ciotte of 27114 Milan St., has been awarded an Eastern Michigan University (EMU) Faculty Women's Club Scholarship for next year.

Mrs. Jackson is a senior, majoring in social work. The award, made at the final winter term meeting of the club, is given to a full-time EMU senior woman who has a "B" average or better.

Gas price warning eyed

New legislation proposed by Sen. William Faust would give Michigan motorists early warning of gasoline prices.

Faust's bill would require all the state's gasoline stations to post the per gallon price of their products, including all taxes, on a sign large enough to be read from a distance of 200 feet.

The Westland Democrat said: "Most motorists are forced to wait in line for as long as 45 minutes before they know what price they will have to pay for gasoline.

"UNDER MY bill, they would know ahead of time what the price of gas is and would be able to determine whether they're willing to wait in line to pay that price."

"I also have proposed that retailers be required to post a sign or placard if they are out of gas or if they have placed a limit on the amount of gasoline sales."

Violators would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

"It's bad enough that the energy crisis has sent fuel cost soaring and has handicapped motorists with long lines at gas stations," Faust said. "And to compound those inconveniences with what amounts to concealing the per-gallon price until the motorists reaches the pump is inexcusable."

Company begins quest for washing machine

When the worldwide search for the oldest working Maytag automatic originally was planned, it was expected Maytag would receive 5,000 entries. But, as of mid-April, more than 9,000 have been received and it is weeks until the May 30 deadline.

The search for the oldest working Maytag automatic, which was first announced in January, is part of the appliance firm's observance this year of the 25th anniversary of its automatic washer.

The person owning the oldest working Maytag automatic washer will be paid $5,000 for the washer, which then will be put on permanent display in the company's historical museum in Newton, Iowa. Besides the cash payment, the owner will be given a new Maytag automatic washer.

An additional 121 Maytag automatics will be presented to owners of oldest working Maytag automatics in 121 market areas.

For information, write to the Information Center, Maytag Company, Newton, Iowa 50208.

Defeat shows erosion of Republicans' power

By TOM OCHILTREE

Enterprise-Roman
Washington Bureau Chief
Democratic candidate J. Robert Traxler's victory in Michigan's special Congressional election revealed a steep erosion in Republican strength of great concern to the party's national leadership.

That was the result, plain for the whole nation to see, of last week's election in the normally Republican rock-solid Eighth District, as near to typical "middle America" as any area can be.

Leading Republicans were not in agreement on what caused the defeat of James M. Sparling Jr.

Were the residents of Bay City - Saginaw in Michigan's rural thumb area disgusted by the White House's involvement in Watergate or alarmed by rising unemployment and unchecked inflation?

The question was far from academic.

IF WATERGATE was the prime cause of what happened in the district, the Republicans may expect one bruising defeat after another so long as President Nixon remains in the White House, and a list of both the Democratic and Republicans agreed.

The picture would be less disheartening for the President, if economic issues could be shown to be the determining ones. Republican hopes of the general election in November would brighten, if the President could stabilize prices and reduce unemployment — two goals extremely difficult to reach in tandem.

Vice-President Gerald R. Ford warned that decay in Republican strength must be checked before autumn or Congress would become so Democratic that no effective opposition would exist.

"One party control is not good for America," Ford said. "The trend in Congressional elections is for the Democrats to end up with an overwhelming majority in the House. This will mean a legislative dictatorship."

THE IMPLICATION is obvious. A heavily Democratic Congress and politically crippled President would give this country two years of partisan clashes and the lamest of lame-duck governments.

Privately, Republican leaders in the wake of the Eighth District results are thinking harder than ever of one option available to their party - persuading Nixon to resign, so he can be succeeded by Ford with enough time left for Ford to revive the party.

Ford himself has done nothing to encourage such a development, although his recent speeches have shown his dislike of the "arrogant elite guard of political adolescents" who once stood close to the President.

A LITTLE MORE STRETCHING — Several fingers popped through and at times the spinning dough landed with a plop on desk tops, but it was all concentration when the students got down to making their dough stretch to the perfect size. The youngsters are members of Sophie Radakovich's third grade class at Merriman Elementary School in Romulus.

Kiwanis conducts supper

The Romulus Kiwanis Pancake Festival is scheduled for 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday at the Romulus Progressive Hall.

Tickets for the festival are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children for all the pancakes participants can eat.

Proceeds from the festival will be used to finance community betterment projects in Romulus through the Kiwanis.

Rat survey postponed

A proposed survey to determine the extent of Van Buren Township's rat problem has been delayed pending the availability of state or federal funds to finance the survey.

The proposed survey was prompted by reports of rats moving into the township during the construction of the I-94 Expressway west of

New issues make campaign more than rerun of election

By BOB BERG
Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau Chief

There is a temptation to look at this year's governor's race, yawn, and assume it will be a rerun of 1970.

It's true the two main contestants will be the same, barring any unforeseen complications. The Republicans will field incumbent William G. Milliken while the Democrats appear to have settled on former State Sen. Sander M. Levin.

It's true some of the actions will be the same. Milliken will be concentrating on state issues and disassociating himself from an administration which is unpopular in the state. Levin will be attacking Milliken's record, accusing him of not doing enough and of being a weak governor.

BUT THERE are a lot of dissimilarities.

For instance, there is no U.S. Senate race this year. That means the GOP won't experience a repeat of the embarrassing and divisive consensus comedy of errors which gave the Senate nomination to Lenore Romney in 1970, guaranteeing a party split. It also means Milliken won't be saddled with a weak candidate at the top of the ticket and Levin won't be helped by a highly popular one, such as Phil Hart in 1970. Hart won by 886,000 votes in 1970, and Milliken had to convince thousands of voters to split their ticket.

At the same time, the parochial issue which hurt Levin is gone as the result of a vote by the people for a constitutional amendment, outlawing it in 1970. Levin was forced into a corner on the issue by Milliken, and it generally is accepted that parochialism made the difference.

THERE ARE a lot of issues around now that weren't around four years ago, such as the energy crisis, Watergate and busing. Milliken is now an established figure in the governor's chair with a much more clearly defined record than he had when running after little more than a year in office.

The Democrats are showing signs of a desire to try to tie Milliken to Watergate and Nixon as they successfully did in some Congressional races this spring. Whether the same tactics that work on a Washington-related job will work for a state job remains to be seen.

There also will be no General Motors strike this fall to disrupt the Michigan economy, creating widespread unemployment and dissatisfaction. The strike helped Levin. Since auto negotiations came last fall, there will be no such help this fall.

There has been high unemployment in Michigan again this year as a result of the energy crisis and the Detroit automakers' slow response to move to smaller cars. But changeovers have been made and gasoline has become more plentiful, developments which most economists say should make things much better by fall.

LEVIN, OF COURSE, can still count on the fact there are more Democrats in Michigan than Republicans, and Milliken still will have to count on ticket splitters and independent voters to win.

It's like comparing the 1964 baseball all-star game with this summer's game. The contestants are the same, the American and National Leagues, but most of the specific ingredients are changed.

SPRING MAGIC — The advent of warm weather has enticed not only Western Wayne County residents outdoors, but also a wide selection of nature's own bright-colored trims. Enterprise-Roman Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko caught a portion of the new greenery in its reigning fuzziness with a look at spring magic and pussy willows.

Parking lot repairs eyed by Huron schools

The treacherous, chuckhole-riddled parking lot between Huron Junior and Huron High schools in New Boston is nearing an end, as the Huron Board of Education has begun receiving bids for repair.

The school board took the first step in eliminating the hazardous parking lot surface at its Monday night meeting. After all bids from contractors are in, the board will study them for 30 days and award a contract, according to Huron School Supt. Byron K. Antcliff.

The board also accepted a bid from the Lloyd Excavating Co. of Trenton to install a sewer connector at New Boston Elementary School.

In other action, the board:

—accepted the resignation of Huron High School art teacher and varsity golf coach Roger Kilponen, who plans to enter the Lutheran ministry after the school year ends.

—approved the request of the high school French Club to travel to Quebec City, Que. May 9-12, to study the French history of the city. The group, which has raised its own funds for the trip, will travel via the Canadian National Railway.

—approved a leave of absence for elementary teacher Lorraine Cutler, who will teach school in New Zealand.

—approved new two-year contracts for Riverside Elementary School Principal Bill Dalwinski and Hannan Road Elementary School Principal Dave Schultz.

Bank earnings rise

Security Bancorp's operating earnings for the first quarter ending March 31 were up 19.6 per cent before investment transactions and 20.3 per cent afterwards as compared to the first quarter of 1973.

Board Chairman Douglas A. Hayes said that despite a prolonged period of high interest rates, serious inflation and general economic slow down, Security Bancorp's earnings have been good and continued growth is anticipated.

Security Bancorp is the parent company of Security Bank and Trust.

All of that part of the open SHOOK (County) Drain as established in Sections 21 and 22 of the City of Romulus, from a point 1,550 feet South and 800 feet West of the North East corner of Section 21, thence South and East across the Section line to a point 2,000 feet South and 150 feet East of the North West corner of Section 22, being more particularly described as follows: All of the open Shook (County) Drain easement as established in Section 21, T. 3 S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, and all of the open Shook (County) Drain easement as established in Section 22, T. 3 S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan.

All of that part of the open TEXAS MARSH (County) DRAIN as established in Section 26 of the City of Romulus, from a point 1,850 feet South and 3,600 feet West of the North East corner of Section 26, thence East, then North, and then East again to a point on the East Section line of Section 26, 700 feet South of the North East corner of Section 26 and all of the open Texas Marsh Branch (County) Drain as established in Section 25 and 26 of the City of Romulus, from a point 2,200 feet South and 50 feet West of the North East corner of Section 26, thence 350 feet South, thence 1,360 feet East across the Section line, thence North to a point 2,440 feet South and 1,320 feet East of the North West corner of Section 25, all of the above being more particularly described as follows: All of the open Texas Marsh (County) Drain easement as established in Section 26, T. 3 S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, and all of the open Texas Marsh Branch (County) Drain easement as established in Section 25, T. 3 S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan.

Such action is based upon a certain resolution by the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners to vacate and abandon said drains, filed with me, the County Drain Commissioner of the County of Wayne, on the 22nd Day of February, 1974, and signed by Henry J. Galecki, Secretary and Clerk of the Wayne County Road Commissioners.

All expenses of such vacating and abandoning will be paid by said petitioner as provided by the statute, and there will therefore be no assessment district.

NOW THEREFORE, you and all owners of lands and persons interested in the above described drains, to be vacated and abandoned, as aforesaid, and the lands affected thereby, are hereby cited to appear at the time and place of making such order and be heard with respect to such order and your interest in relation thereto, if you so desire.

Mini-

PLAN

What you do first.
Let's assume you can qualify and are approved for a mortgage on the condominium you want at Woodbury Green — and you can come up with a couple of hundred dollars. You can then move in right away and start making regular monthly payments of $232.50 a month.

What we do next.
We'll credit each of your monthly payments* until there's enough for a down payment — as little as 5% of your purchase price at the lowest conventional mortgage rates available. Then, you take title to your condominium home, simply and easily as that. All the while you've been living in your Woodbury Green townhouse, enjoying the pool and the clubhouse and Belleville Lake and nearby Lower Huron Metro Park.

What you do now.
Come see the condominium townhouses at Woodbury Green. Check the features: 2 bedrooms, 1½ baths, whirlpool kitchen, central air conditioning and more, and compare the value. Then ask our sales representative to do the figuring — and find out how easily you can move in at Woodbury Green.
